The luxury of its water-cooled gate will permit you to use maximum light intensities without the slightest risk of damage to the film . . . and always brighter screenings from colour pictures.

Another feature which makes the "Five" the safest and most efficient projector ever designed is the Drum shutter. Safe because it effectively prevents any possibility of fire in case of breakdown; efficient because it permits more light to reach the gate.

The secret of mechanical perfection in any projector is found in its intermittent movement. Only in the "Five" with its patented cross of improved design can it be said that absolutely flickerless projection has been achieved.

The superb quality of a Walturdaw performance owes much to its high efficiency arc lamp. The special profile mirror provides a collecting surface a quarter as large again as the usual 12 in. optical system. A unique carbon feed compensator smooths out all burning rate fluctuations providing fully automatic control with most carbon trims.

A de luxe sound system capable of utilising all the recent advances in sound recording adds the final touch of perfection to its matchless sound and picture presentation.

psychology, because it's Sound Equipment.

COMFORT

is good Box Office

Comfortable seating is part of the enjoyment of your programmes—it is an additional "feature" which, although not shown on the screen, can attract large and regular patronage and give an air of luxury to your cinema. Harrison Cinema Super Seating improves the appearance of the auditorium; it is soundly constructed, deeply sprung, well-upholstered and modern in design.

We are now in a position to consider enquiries for every class of cinema and theatre. The production situation is, however, still difficult and orders should be placed as far ahead as possible.

British Production Survey

By P. G. Baker

URING the 12 months ended December 31 our studios wholly completed 63 first feature pictures compared with 59 in 1947. In addition there were three first features made overseas or wholly on location, 18 second feature films made in the studios, and scores of "featurettes" made on location and in the cutting rooms.

Harold Wilson, President of the Board of Trade, announced the 45 per cent. exhibitor quota of British first feature films in June. But instead of a steady increase in the overall production tempo, studio after studio went out of action, staff was dismissed and, by November, 12 studios were idle.

Studio Output

The J. Arthur Rank Organisation in association with Ealing studios completed 34 first features of the year's total, plus two location-only first features and four second features from Highbury.

The Sir Alexander Korda studios, including British National which was taken on a lease in June, made eight first features.

The Associated British-Pathé setup completed three pictures in addition to films handled by Pathé from independent producers.

Last year Rank was responsible for 29 first features, Korda for seven, and ABPC made three.

During 1948, there have been 18 first features made by wholly independent producing companies, including the five made directly by U.S. companies.

Placing the studios in order of merit on films made per stage space available, the running goes like this :-

1. Islington (3,404)—3.

2. Isleworth (5,025)—9.

- 3. Shepherd's Bush (5,121)—4.
- 4. Nettlefold (5,219)—2. 5. Riverside (6,337)—6.
- 6. Gate (6,775).
- 7. Ealing (7,109)—10.

- 8. Welwyn (7.694)—8.
- 9. Pinewood (8,054)—12.
- 10. Teddington (10,147). 11. Denham (11,024)—11.
- 12. MGM-British (16,515)—14.
- 13. British National (16,778)—7.
- 14. Shepperton (22,500)—13.

Figures in brackets are the amount of space in sq. ft. used by each studio to complete one picture in proportion to the year's total output. Figures at the end of each line indicate the 1947 placing, where available.

British producers can now make use of all existing British studios, the final post-war rehabilitation being completed with the rebuilding of ABPC's Elstree plant, which was opened in July. The total facilities for 1949 are:—

24 studios.

72 sound stages.

642,970 sq. ft. of stage space.

Using eight fewer sound stages and nearly 100,000 sq. ft. less stage space, producers made 179 features in British studios during 1937. Let me say at once, that many of these films were very poor quota "quickies"; but the programme was designed for a 20 per cent, and not a 45 per cent. British exhibitor quota.

"Kine" Digest

Consider the output from the major studios in 1937, which was a little over 130 pictures. A complete digest of these films appeared on page 36 of the Kinematograph Weekly's New Year issue on December 16, 1948. It is worth studying because if you compare it with the pictures made in British studios in recent months you'll be very, very surprised.

A short while ago the Kine, review editor, R. H. "Josh" Billings, made a cross section of the 40 features he had seen during the first six months of 1948. He summed up: "This makes 22 winners and place horses in a field of 40." That's the box-office verdict. It's a good average because every film can't be a record breaker; but it's not all that better than 1937.

In September, 1948, the KINE. published a studio survey devoted to quota. At that time production was showing a steady improvement and exhibitors had a total of 194 first features from which to book. But only 42 of these had not completed, or were about to start their first run. The KINE. said then: "One thing is certain: we must have more new films from the studios."

But the sudden speed-up in production which everyone expected did not take place.

Costs Too High

The greatest problem is that of production costs. Film making is expensive, too expensive for the home market; and no sensible businessman will make an article which he cannot sell in his own country at a profit.

British kinemas will yield about £200,000 for a producer if his picture is a really good box-office proposition. Only the really big winners will recover more than that from the UK. So if a producer spends more than £200,000 on a picture, he depends on foreign markets to balance his books.

British film making must be trimmed to British kinema economy. That doesn't mean that producers should not try to sell their pictures overseas; but it's too great a risk to make a high budget film with the mirage of an overseas distribution contract as the only hope of recovering the negative costs.

The J. Arthur Rank Organisation has learnt this lesson. Despite the criticisms made of the group during the past months, it has done more than any other combine to bring down schedules and costs to a reasonlevel. In 1947 Mr. Rank a production ioss reported £1,500,000 to his shareholders, this year he disclosed a bank overdraft of £6,000,000; and he estimated a £6,000,000 investment in uncompleted pictures, plus £4,800,000 which it is hoped to recoup from films which were then on general release.

Three years ago the Rank budgets were in the million bracket—"London Town" (£1,000,000), "Cæsar and Cleopatra" (£1,300,000), "A Matter of Life and Death" (£650,000) "Men of Two Worlds" (£600,000). Every film was not so expensive, but generally speaking, this was the "prestige era."

During the last 12 months the group has slashed at its costs all round. Even the top films of the programme are not going above the £250,000 mark.

More recently, the important Technicolor subject "Columbus" was turned out for £146,000, with "Quartet" costing £163,000, a large percentage of the budget going to the story rights. "My Brother's Keeper" cost just on the £100,000 mark.

Not every production group is cutting its costs. We have seen examples this year of fantastically high budgets, budgets fixed with an American distribution in mind. The Rank group has learnt to aim at the U.S. market, but to trim the budget to fit the home market. And it's a sound example to follow.

Overlong Schedules

Films go beyond budget when they occupy stage space for an unreasonable length of time. It costs about £15,000 a week to keep a moderate production unit working in a major studio. Producers have been making a gallant effort to reduce the time spent in production. The five-day-week system introduced towards the end of 1947 has not helped tighten up the schedules. Last year I reported that the 1947 average shooting schedule for first features was a little under 14 weeks. During 1948 the average for first features (calculated on a table of 54 completed films) is 12.4. That is a remarkable figure and reflects great credit on the industry as a whole.

There have been few extremes. Pictures have been completed in about ten weeks in the Rank studios. The long schedule films have been: "History of Mr. Polly" (Two Cities, 20 weeks), "Cardboard Cavalier" (Two Cities, 18 weeks), "Scott of the Antarctic" (Ealing, 19 weeks) "London Belongs to Me" (In-noor in eight weeks.

Labour Problems

Studio labour is an intricate factor in estimating and keeping to a production budget. It's to be expected that the employees disagree with producer policy. What has been remarkable is the way unions and producers are learning to sort out their problems round a table instead of under the blackmail tactics of the unofficial strike.

The BFPA is anxious about the final outcome of the agreements which it has with the trade unions. These agreements have been operating for a trial period of 12 months. The BFPA gave ACT notice that it will terminate the agreement early in the year and wishes to make a completely new survey of the position.

Some technical wage rates are high; but wages are a relatively small part of any production budget. The producers want to cut restrictive practices, clear up overtime problems, and generally get union the widespread close down of studio space. Studio employees could not understand why staff was being dismissed as redundant. They wanted to know why British National closed down in April, to remain idle until October; why the Gate and Highbury studios were closed by the Rank group in the summer, and why Arthur Rank planned to close down Islington early in 1949; and they wanted to know why Riverside had been idle since September, Southall since August and Twickenham at the same time. It's hard to understand why Welwyn has had no production since October, why Manchester made only one film in 1948, why there has been "on-off" production at Nettlefold and Marylebone, and why 90 men were dismissed at Denham, nearly 100 from Ealing and the whole staff of Teddington given notice, until production plans were announced for January, 1949.

Finance Withheld

A direct cause of the widespread close down was the panic in the City. Finance houses have declined to lend money for film production which, they have argued, is no longer a reasonably good risk. Because of this, many "free-lance" producers were unable to make pictures. And even if money was available, many producers found it difficult to make distribution and studio arrangements which would enable them to cast an economically sound budget.

That's where the Board of Trade came into the picture. One thing

That has been the attitude adopted by the President, Harold Wilson, for the last 12 months.

Production Council

The President formed a National Film Production Council last March, which included seven representatives from producers and an equal number of trade union delegates. March meeting decided that the question of production costs should be reviewed as soon as possible. The was asked to submit specific figures. No figures have yet been given the council, although a formula has been agreed for the best method of submitting them.

The council held its second meeting on November 29. Producers and unions then told Harold Wilson their views on redundancy, the method of fixing exhibitor quota and other production matters. But the fact is that very little of a constructive nature had been done by this council during 1948, although it was set up during a time of crisis.

The Board, pressed by the unions, formed a committee under the chairmanship of Sir George Gater to review the possibilities of a State-owned studio. Sir George advised the Government not to go into the film business.

In a memorandum to that report, the BFPA stated: "An important factor in reducing the cost of production is to keep all studio stages and permanent staff in continuous employment." The producers argued that studio space has not been fully occupied, and that it would therefore be hazardous for the State to provide additional space.

Nevertheless, it was difficult to appreciate that statement in the light of events.

The independent film makers have complained that the Government is not giving them the right kind of support. The National Film Finance Company, which lent over £1,000,000 to the British-Lion group of companies, was formed to help the "free lance." But the provision of State funds to supplement the lack of faith in the City is bristling with difficulties.

Early in 1949 a Board of Trade committee was preparing to investigate the whole field of distribution and exhibition, headed by Lord Portal as chairman.

The whole problem of making films in all the studios at the right price must be solved at once. Reissues can only keep kinemas going for a few months at the most, and, if the full quota is to be met later in 1949 British studios will have to be making at the minimum 100 first features a year. And the maximum which can be made on available stage space (unless we revive the "quickie") is 120. That can only be done with all the studios working all of the time.

Britain has some of the finest production plants in the world. We are making the best equipment possible for the studios. And the merits of our technicians can be seen in the high standard of nearly every film which is turned out of he studios.

New Technique

New technique, the "independent frame" and the advance of television, are all helping to make film production less expensive and to enable our studios to turn out more films.

This is no time to argue whether the U.S. companies are making enough films in Britain or not; it's no time to argue about details in union agreements; and certainly it's no time to query if exhibitors in some areas have a high enough quota. The production industry has the protection of a 45 per cent. quota—for better or for worse is beside the point because that is the law. Producers wanted a high quota. Let them deliver the goods.

Quiet, in a Cullum-treated studio, means quiet.... outside noises stay outside; inside, recording conditions are ideal—and remain ideal, for Cullum Rock Wool studio treatment is permanent, fireproof, insect-proof, vermin-proof.... That is why most major British studios are sound-conditioned by Cullum. Every architect who is concerned with studio design and construction can with advantage make use of Cullum's extensive practical experience in the technique of sound-control. A Cullum expert will be glad to assist you on every acoustic problem.

KINEMA EQUIPMENT

Survey of Developments in Technical Equipment, Furnishing and Allied Trades. Data for Technicians; Leading Equipment Companies and Personnel.

Technical Progress in 1948

by R. HOWARD CRICKS, F.B.K.S., F.R.P.S.

HE technical survey of a year ago started with a summary of the stringent Home Office regulations then, and still, in draft. (1) The past few months have seen a development which, on paper at least, would completely nullify the effect of these regulations—nonflam, film base.

The Cinematograph Act, under which safety regulations are enforced in the kinema, (2) is, of course; based solely upon the use of, and the supposed dangers arising from, inflammable film. But it must not be assumed that, even though non-flam stock became universally used—as may be the case in three to five years' time—the present regulations would cease to have validity, or that the new draft regulations would be withdrawn.

Home Office Regulations

The Home Office is naturally keenly interested in the situation, and it is almost certain that, before non-flam. base becomes general, an enabling act will be passed, under which those of the new regulations which are not rendered absolutely superfluous by the elimination of the fire hazard (or such of them as the trade discussions do not succèed in deleting) will be re-imposed.

But unfortunately these new regulations, even though officially they are merely a draft, have already been taken as a model by certain local authorities. It has been suggested that, while the former regulations if literally applied would close half our kinemas, the new regulations would close them all! This may be something of an exaggeration, but undoubtedly the imposition of the new regulations would lead to considerable expenditure, estimated at many millions of pounds — expenditure which in the present national situation is quite impossible.

Field tests are being conducted at the time of writing with slow-burning film stock manufactured by two Kodak and Gevaert. technical information is yet available concerning the latter, but the Kodak base was the subject of a detailed paper by G. J. Craig, given to the BKS in October.(3) The new material is known as triacetate; its low inflammability is within the requirements of BS 850 (a specification which, although not officially recognised by the Home Office, was recommended for acceptance before the war by the Stonehaven Commission).

The mechanical properties of the new base far exceed those of previous slow-burning bases, and in some respects even exceed those of nitrate. The indications are that no difficulty whatever will be experienced in the kinema due to mechanical failure of the base

In any case, the legal advantages accruing from the use of the new stock will serve to overrule any technical objections, which it appears are merely a matter of usage.

While an immediate change-over of manufacturers to the new stock cannot be expected, it is anticipated that a gradual change-over will become effective within the next three years. But for some years old films on nitrate base will continue to circulate, and therefore an early demise of the Cinematograph Act regulations cannot be looked for.

A second major development of the past few months has been the permission accorded to the industry to reproduce on kinema screens the BBC television programmes. (4) A point which was apparently not made clear to the trade representatives in their former negotiations with the Television Advisory Committee and the Post Office was that a licence could not be granted to a monopoly (in this case the Rank Organisation) -a point I made eignteen months ago in the IDEAL KINEMA. It was more than chance that the interest of ABC in kinema television should have coincided with the granting of the permission for public reproduction.

Television in the Kinema

There is, however, a tendency to over-estimate the immediate effect of this development upon the industry. It is probable that not more than three or four G-B theatres will be equipped at first—of course with Cinema-Television's apparatus. No statement at the time of writing had been made as to the apparatus to be adopted by ABC; only two other manufacturers outside the Rank group are known to be interested in the development of kinema equipment, and my information is that neither is in a position to consider installations for a considerable time to come.

In any case, only those exhibitors in the London area will be at present able to receive programmes with sufficient certainty, although exhibitors in the Midlands will be within the area of the new transmitting station now under construction at Birmingham, and due to be working early in the year.

Present indications are that the television projector will in all cases have to be placed in the stalls, since it is not practicable as yet to construct optical equipment which will permit of the full throw from the projection room. It may be assumed that the requirements to be included in the draft regulations concerning the protection of the television projector will not be enforced, but stringent precautions are essential, in view of the high voltages used in the equipment.

While no particulars have been given of any equipment that EMI may have developed, and information concerning the Pye projector, (5) A.G.D. West has given considerable details of the latest Cinema-Television apparatus which has been functioning for some months at a Bromley (Kent) kinema (8) and which was demonstrated to the trade in December. The available light is stated to be from 800 to 1,000 lumens, which on a directional screen of normal kinema size is sufficient to produce a picture of a brightness falling within the range of the BS specification for screen brightness.

Representations have been made that the trade should be permitted to inaugurate its own transmissions; three pairs of wave-bands (that is to say, three picture and sound channels) have been requested, but at the moment it seems very unlikely that any such concession will be granted. The superior picture quality of transmissions from the Cinema-Television studio, compared with that of the B.B.C. transmissions, lends force to such demands.

It is frequently noticeable on home receivers that film transmissions are technically the worst part of the programme. This is largely due to the fact that the transmitting equipment still used by Alexandra Palace is that originally installed in 1936, comprising Mechau non-intermittent projectors operating with normal television cameras. Both Cinema-Television(?) and EMI(8) have developed film transmitters employing continuously moving film, and likely to overcome the present difficulties.

SUB-STANDARD

Magnetic Sound

Yet a third major development, the influence of which must not be overlooked, is magnetic sound recording. While metallic tape and wire have proved incapable of a sufficiently high quality of reproduction, the adapted.

iron-oxide-coated plastic tape, originated for the German Magnetophone, (9) has been developed to a high state of efficiency. The volume range considerably exceeds that of photographic recording, while an adequate frequency range is obtainable. EMI are marketing a selfcontained recording and play-back apparatus. (10)

Experiments are proceeding actively in the laboratories of British Acoustic Films in the application of this principle to recording in the film studio.(10) The magnetic track would, of course, be dubbed to a photographic track before release, and there is no question of existing sound heads in the kinema being

It is, however, probable that the ease of recording and erasing on the $\frac{1}{4}$ -in, wide tape will lead to the installation of magnetic equipment in the kinema, for the purpose of recording announcements, and even radio programmes, which can be reproduced during the week, and then can be erased, leaving the tape ready for recording further material.

Projection Equipment

A year ago, five new projector outfits were reported: the BTH Supa, the G-K "21," the Walturdaw Five, the Westar, and the Ross Although the export market has made a large demand upon the capacity of manufacturers, a number of British kinemas have been equipped with these machines. It is safe to say that there is a slow but assured improvement in the standard of projection.

Only one new projector outfit has been demonstrated during the past year: the G-K "20"—a machine similar to the G-K "21," but of simpler design and considerably lower priced.(11) The main differences between the two machines are the less massive stand, a normal shutter instead of the double-speed shutter now standardised on the G-K "21," a simpler sound head, and a 14-in. mirror arc instead of the former 16-in. In conjunction with the appropriate sound equipment it is intended for the kinema of up to 1,400 seats. It is styled in the modern G-B manner, coloured in beige and white.

A new projection unit, also embodying the principles of self-contained unit construction, is nearing completion in the Leicester works of Imperial Sound.

A feature of these and other newlyintroduced projectors is the fact that change-over devices are incorporated in them. While originally it was arranged for picture and sound to be changed over simultaneously. projectionists quickly found that sound needed to be changed later, not only because of the separation between picture and sound on the film, but because of the general disregard of the SMPE requirement that significant sound should be kept 5 ft. away from the changeover point. As a result, separate picture and sound change-overs are now preferred. Suggestions have been put forward for completely automatic change-over systems, (12) but there is little immediate likelihood of their adoption.

A new range of projection lenses has been introduced by Ross. (13) Known as the Rosslyte, they are of the 2.77-in. (70 mm.) diameter, and have an aperture of f/1.9 throughout the focal range. Maximum light transmission is assured by the fact that all surfaces are coated, while the lens is hermetically sealed, preventing the admission of dust and oil. A forthcoming British standard will set out dimensional particulars of a range of lenses of the enormous aperture of f/1.4, but there is no immediate possibility of such lenses being produced.

A newly-introduced model of the Strong arc lamp is now made in this country. Known as the "Fortress," it is available in both DC and AC models, with two mirror sizes, $10\frac{1}{4}$ -in. and $11\frac{7}{8}$ -in. The high efficiency is indicated by the light outputs, which range from 8,000 lumens for the smaller lamp run on AC, to 11,000 lumens, for the larger lamp running on DC.(14)

While in this country the mirror arc is all but universal, it is worth recording that in the United States the firm of Peerless has introduced a rotating-positive condenser arc.

having a newly developed optical system with the high aperture of f/2. The makers claim that the use of a condenser arc, notwithstanding its higher running costs, may be justified by the superior quality of projection. (15)

The low standard of slide projection in the average kinema is the subject of frequent comment. new lantern introduced by Rigby combines the functions of slide lantern and stage spotlight.(16) For the former it is capable of accommodating either the standard 3\frac{1}{2}-in. square slides or the American standard of 4 in. \times 3½ in. The latter size has the advantage that the picture shape is better adapted to the rectangular kinema screen. When the lantern is used for spotting, it is necessary only to slacken off the clamping screws securing the stand. when the whole lamp can be easily swung in any direction.

Turning to the rewind room, there is some indication that the need for using a splicer, especially for the new acetate films, is being appreciated. A wide variety of types is available, from the laboratory model marketed by Acmade,(17) to the simple hand model introduced by

Rigby.(18)

A minor, but useful innovation is the Ezewynd device, patented by the Leeds firm of Provincial Cinematograph Trading Co.(19) It consists of a frame which fits over the rewinder spindle, and ensures the film being wound evenly and without proud edges.

Standard Reel

An important development which will do much to reduce the amount of splicing needed is the forthcoming adoption of the 2,000 ft. reel. The BSI has circulated for comment draft standards on the 2,000-ft. film reel, and a spool. Although neither has yet attained the finality of a standard, the KRS Print Managers' Committee (which was incidentally, set up at the suggestion of the BKS Film Mutilation Committee (20)) is prepared to adopt the double reel as soon as materials are available for tins and despatch cases, and indeed one or two renters are already issuing a proportion of their product in the form of double reels.

Sound Equipment

Three new sound systems have been developed, each in conjunction with a projector outfit, as is the modern trend.

A new Duosonic channel forms part of the G-K "20" outfit.(11) The sound head differs from that of the G-K "21" outfit in having a single feed sprocket only, and in having an optical system of the "projected slit" type instead of "projected track." Amplifier channels are provided suitable for halls of up to 1,400 seats; a feature of the racks is the ease of accessibility of all circuits, the components being mounted on pivoted trays.

A new sound system announced by Ross (21) is intended primarily for export purposes, since in this country the Streemlite projector outfit is normally marketed in conjunction with RCA equipment. The sound head is of the modern rotary drum type. A feature of the amplifier is its provision of stand-by and ease of servicing, as is so necessary in situations remote from service facili-The standard outfit comprises two 30-watt amplifiers mounted in a single rack, so providing complete assurance against breakdown, while if so desired, the two amplifiers may be used together in circuit. A junior model is made; comprising two 15-watt amplifiers, for halls of up to 750 seats.

Specially intended for use with the Walturdaw Five projector, a channel has been developed which incorporates a pull-through sound head, which is, however, provided with a heavy flywheel and dashpot smoothing system, as previously favoured by Ernemann. A range of amplifiers and speakers is available to suit the dimensions of the auditorium.(22)

The studio or laboratory projection room is catered for by RCA, who for the first time have produced a standardised and centralised double-film equipment. (23) Two systems are available, respectively for preview work and for dubbing. The latter, as installed in the RCA dubbing theatre at the Tower, Hammersmith, provides for six dubbing heads, in addition to a pair of Ross double-film projectors. A feature of both systems is that all control and test points are centralised inside the handsome amplifier racks.

Electrical Equipment

The relative merits of installation of the arc rectifier in the projection room, or in an adjacent rectifier room, are still the subject of argument. (The former would incidentally be permitted by the new Home Office regulations.) The principle adopted by Hewittic (24) and Westinghouse (24) enables the control panel to be either mounted on the rectifier cubicle when this is installed in the projection room, or if it is installed elsewhere, the control panel can be mounted on the projector stand.

Although for reasons of economy in wiring, single-phase working of rectifiers is generally adopted, it is accepted that an arc will operate with greater stability on a supply derived from three-phase mains. An ingenious circuit embodied in the new Westalite metal rectifier (for which selenium, and not copper oxide, is now used as the rectifying element) enables a single-phase supply to be converted to threephase before rectification, thus giving an output wave-form identical with that of an orthodox three-phase rectifier.

Current control is effected by means of a small rheostat which carries a control current only, and provides continuously variable adjustment from 35 to 65 amps., over a wide range of arc voltages. (25)

The objections to the use of VIR cables inside conduit have long been realised; attention has now been drawn to them in very strong terms by an LCC inspector. It is therefore particularly timely that a mineralinsulated cable, needing no conduit, should now become available, which so far as can be foreseen is devoid of the faults of conduit. The cable in question is Pyrotenax; (26) it comprises conductors of the required number (up to 7) embedded in magnesium oxide within a solid drawn copper tube. The slight additional costs of installation are more than offset by its greater safety, and several kinemas have already been wired with it.

The Auditorium

While consideration of theatre design is at the moment of purely academic interest in this country, attention should be drawn to the comprehensive series of papers which appeared last year in the SMPE In particular, Iournal. Schlanger, outstanding kinema architest, has advanced very convincing arguments in favour of the "reversed slope " auditorium, (27) in which the level of the first few rows of stalls. instead of rising, falls from the screen, the slope then reversing to provide the customary ramping of the seating. He demonstrates that by the adoption of this principle it is possible for the over-all height, especially of a balcony theatre, to be much reduced, giving a better viewing angle from the circle seats, and of course reducing building costs and improving acoustics.

The same author advocates the abandonment of the conventional masked screen, in favour of a screen in which the edges are vignetted (28): the successful achievement of this effect may necessitate the partial re-design of the forward part of the auditorium. In the same journal similar arguments are advanced by R. Gillespie Williams—well-known in this country for his lighting equipment-for a screen with a narrow black border, which is silhouetted against an illuminated area, the colour of which can be changed to suit the mood of the picture. (29)

The use of fluorescent discharge lighting for the auditorium has been suggested. (50) Problems of dimming can, it is urged, be overcome either by means of mechanical shutters, or by voltage control through a reactive transformer.

The problems of maintaining even volume level in stage amplification systems, and of assuring ease of control, have been met by RCA in a newly developed system. ingenious automatic lift for raising and lowering stage microphones has been introduced by Walturdaw, which enables microphones to be controlled either from the stage switchboard, or from the amplification control console. (31)

British Standards

The work of the Cinematograph Industry Committee of the British Standards Institution covers increasingly wide range of subjects. (32) Among drafts circulated for comment during the past year are specifications relating to the 2,000 ft. reel, 2,000 ft. film spools, projection lenses, and exit boxes, and a number can be expected during the next few months.

The following specifications have been issued or revised :-530:1948: Graphical Symbols for Telecommunications.

THE COST OF ELECTRICITY.

An electrical unit is equal to 1 kilowatt-hour, or 1,000 watts for one hour. To ascertain the consumption in hours per unit of any piece of D.C. apparatus rated in watts, divide the rating into 1,000:e.g., a 60-watt lamp will run for $1,000\div60=16\frac{2}{3}$ hours for one unit.

The theoretical electrical horse-power is equal to 746 watts. For electric motors, a useful approximation is to reckon one unit per hour per rated horse-power.

In the case of A.C. supplies, maximum-demand charges are generally based, not upon the kilowatt, but upon the kilo-volt-ampère; the relation between the two terms is known as power factor. Thus at a power factor of 0.8, a supply of 1 k.v.a. is equal in power output to only 800 watts. The loading of cables must also be based upon the k.v.a., and not the k.w. consumption.

Lighting and heating circuits (other than neons and other discharge lamps) have a power factor of unity; the power factor of motors, are rectifiers, etc., may vary from 0.6 to 0.9. It is advantageous to keep the power factor of such apparatus as high as possible.

CALCULATING ARC RESISTANCES.

The value of a resistance R to pass a given current C at voltage V is expressed, according to Ohm's law, by the formula—

$$R = \frac{V}{C}$$

In calculating arc resistances, however, the value of the back voltage A of the arc must be considered. This may be reckoned as 45 volts for low-intensity arcs, and for high-intensity from 25 volts for a horizontal-negative mirror arc or 40 for an inclined-negative mirror arc, up to 65 or 70 volts for rotating-positive arc and 20 volts for A.C. arc. The formula then becomes—

$$R = \frac{V - A}{C}$$

The earlier studs of a resistance should be so computed as to allow the arc to be struck on not more than one-third of its full current.

ORDINARY FILM CEMENT.

Amyl Acetate 4 oz., Acetone 6 oz.

This may either be used as it is, in which case the cement will be a thin fluid with not much more body in it than water, or it may be thickened to any desired extent by dissolving it in celluloid chips. Celluloid film base from which the gelatine coating has been cleaned off will serve.

For non-flam. film glacial acetic acid may be added; some users also add chloroform. It is, however, preferable to use the cement recommended by the makers of the stock—e.g., for Dufaycolor use Ilford cement.

MEASUREMENT OF SCREEN BRIGHTNESS

Mount photometer one-third the height of screen, and take readings at each end, in the centre, and intermediately (five in all). Average of readings gives light intensity in foot-candles; a recommended figure is from 10 to 14 foot-candles.

The current ratings given above refer to the normal maximum current of the circuit, and do not refer to the overload at which the cut-out will operate.

The full normal load on a fuse should be two-thirds of its fusing load. For arcs, use copper fuses rated at double normal current to allow for striking. On motor circuits the allowance will depend upon the starting current. Allow 50 to 100 per cent. for D.C. motors or A.C. repulsion-induction motors, four times for wound induction motors, six to eight times for squirrel-cage. On 3-phase motor circuits always fuse heavily.

Entirely BRITISH MADE throughout "CYLDON" REELS are accurately made of hard, lightweight aluminium and dynamically balanced to run true. The edges are machined to a smooth radius to prevent scratching the film, and a footage indicator is engraved on each side. The 800, 1,600 and 2,000 ft. reels are reinforced with heavy steel centres.

"CYLDON" Cans are soundly made and are strengthened by concentric ribbings.

Here is the ideal lighting unit—not only mobile, but portable! With the "Portaflood" you can follow your subject, reaching positions unobtainable with fixed photofloods. The "Portaflood" can be held in the hand, mounted on a tripod or stood on a table. It is the most convenient and versatile lighting unit yet devised. With the greater freedom of movement and operating speedit affords, you will get better results and derive greater satisfaction from your photographic work.

For fully descriptive pamphlets of "Cyldon" Cine Reels and Cans, and of "Portaflood" Mobile Lighting, write to the Manufacturers.

SUB-STANDARD FILM MARKET

Sub-Standard Market Survey

by HARRY WHITE

T is fitting that the 16 mm. film should celebrate its Silver Jubilee year with a record of achievement that has eclipsed any other in its history. Coincidence? Maybe, but the fact remains that the past year has seen events which, important as they have been to the immediate operation of the gauge, give firm indications of even greater development in the future.

Expansion Continues

Contrary to predictions from a section of film experts, the entertainment, or commercial shows, branch of the 16 mm. industry has not only consolidated itself but has continued to expand. There has been a steady stream of new operators taking the road. And there has been the quota of failures. Few serious observers of the narrow gauge will deny that there will always be a certain floating population among road show outfits.

But it is not only the number of mobile shows that reflects the position in the commercial field. Look to the source of film supply for these operators—the renters. The year has seen one of 35 mm.'s leading renting houses, 20th Century Fox, enter the 16 mm. market, through Ron Harris, of Maidenhead. It has seen the Kinematograph Renters' Society establish a special section to cater for substandard affairs. And it has seen the easing of a number of restrictions.

Trade shows on 16 mm. prints have started. They are not yet on the widespread scale of 35 mm., but the important point is that they have been inaugurated. The system is likely to grow in the years to come.

And above all, the Government, through the Chancellor of the Exchequer, has recognised the value of 16 mm. entertainment. In his budget of 1948, he made that recognition a tangible fact by giving tax exemption to shows in remote rural areas.

To be fair, the tax plum was unexpected. But none would begrudge the newly-formed 16 mm. Film Exhibitors' Guild a degree of credit for the exemption. young body, it worked hard in notifying Members of Parliament of the financial position of kinema operators out in the wilds. What is more, it has not been content to sit back and rest-in its first year of operation, it has left its mark of good intention on the commercial side. But the organisation has reached a critical stage in its career-its survival depends on the skill of its executives.

Again—and naturally because here there is the largest potential scope for 16 mm.—the film in education, as in the previous year, clocked up the largest number of advances. Certainly, the talking point of the year in this field of operation was the Educational Foundation for Visual Aids.

Visual Aids

It was only natural that a visual aids distributing body set up by the teaching profession and blessed by the Ministry of Education, should be treated with considerable suspicion by the film trade which, to a large extent. carried the educational medium for many years. On the other hand, the Foundation saw many barriers which had to be broken down-not a few of them within the trade itself-if visual aided teaching was to become an accepted technique in the country's schools.

All that can be said for this record is that the Foundation has made an impressive start—and among its first films are a number from commercial producers. Has it the right policy? Only 1949 and subsequent years will reveal the answer to that question.

Sharing the responsibility in the educational field is the National Committee for Visual Aids in Educa-The films the Foundation previewed late in 1948 came from the Committee's interim programme. And it has more lined up.

From the direct teaching frontthe classrooms-there have been steady reports of activities by the National Federation of Education Film Groups.

But there remains one major barrier preventing the free flow of visual aids material to schools—finance. With all their good intentions, film producers are finding it hard goingthere is a limit to the amount of money they can tie-up in films which require years to pay their way.

It is only a temporary condition and will improve as the number of projector users increases. But until then, producers must be helped financially. It's a matter for the Treasury.

In a short review of such an event-packed year, it is impossible to cover every major happening but to conclude without touching on the equipment scene woulb de a grave Again, it would be incorrect to suggest that one side of an industry contributes any more than another. But in the equipment field, the 16 mm. trade is fortunate it has a group of manufacturers world-renowned for its craftsmanship.

During 1948, they put on the market many new lines in precision projectors and ancillary gear to meet every need. It can be predicted with confidence that they will not rest there—1949 will see as many, if not more, new ideas in the equipment field.

Yes, the Silver Jubilee of the 16 mm. has certainly been an eventful one.

FINANCE

Leading Companies; Structure, Executives, Capital and Financial Statements

Financial Review of 1948

by V. J. BURTT

PENING the year with the great Anglo-American con troversy in full blast the film and kinema industry, after a stormy year, is concluding the period on the more hopeful note of tele-kinema shows "on the doorstep."

But during the interval it has passed through some extremely difficult patches.

At one time it appeared that many kinemas would have to close down altogether owing to the lack of films, but in May came a final settlement between the British Board of Trade and the American industry.

From this stage things began to improve. The Board of Trade, once again with the object of helping the British industry, set up a £5,000,000 Film Finance Corporation in order to aid independent film production. British Lion, and other independent groups, have already availed themselves of aid, although at the time of writing the necessary Bill had not been passed.

Formation of CMA

Coming to individual groups, the outstanding development of the year was undoubtedly the formation of Circuits Management Association which unified control of the Odeon and Gaumont-British circuits.

Altogether 564 kinemas were brought into the scheme, the objects of which were to simplify managerial problems; provide economies; better service to kinemagoers; better use of manpower; and wider scope for advancement for younger men showing

Benefits from this have not yet been seen, although the change was expressed in the annual accounts issued early in November, showing a total assets value for the combined Odeon-Gaumont group of over £66,000,000. Consolidated trading profit was nearly £6,000,000, and the net profit, subject to tax, £4,182,000.

The City commented on the group's temporary indebtedness and over-prafts amounting to over £13,000,000. Although temporary finance plays an important part in the finance of the industry, Mr. Rank, in his annual statement, was "not unmindful of the desirability of rearranging on a longer-term basis a substantial portion of this credit."

Rank also confirmed that the exhibition side of the industry was looking up again. According to him the improvement has been brought about by the full exploitation of British films. The average takings per week per theatre of British films on the Odeon circuit were £587 as against all-foreign films' £566.

ABPC Setback

Group trading profits of ABPC for the year to March 31, 1948, amounted to £2,026,110 against £3,076,783. Net profits applicable to the Corporation were £513,901 against £956,174. Dividend was reduced from 30 per cent. to $22\frac{1}{2}$ per cent.

Sir Philip Warter blamed the entertainments tax for much of the group's troubles, as well as the Anglo-American controversy.

A minor feature of considerable interest has been the resuscitation of the Scophony group by the Diamond-Seeman team of Capital and Provincial News Theatres.

Capital and Provincial again paid $17\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. with a further rise in profits.

British Lion Film Corporation increased its gross profit from £223,455 to £344,784. Net profit was £81,724, and ordinary dividend 30 per cent.

We have had a newcomer to the market—Shipman and King Cinemas, Ltd., which made its bow with an issue of 600,000 5 per cent. first cumulative preference shares £1 each at par, which at one time fell to 17s. 6d. in the stress and difficulties of the past year, despite the fact that the assets and profits showed a cover of nearly three times.

LEGAL

Cinematograph Films Act;
Cinematograph Act, 1909.
Summary of Acts and Other Legislation.

The Legal Outlook

by NORMAN HART, B.A.

ANY exhibitors will find it difficult to comply with the new quota. If an exhibitor is in trouble with regard to his quota I would advise him to get into touch with the Board of Trade at once, and explain fully the position.

The Act is printed in full in this Year Book and there have been many excellent articles written upon it in The Kinematograph Weekly and I would strongly advise readers to read those articles.

The Films Act

Under the Act a Cinematograph Films Council has been constituted and every case will be considered by that body before any steps are taken. I dare say it might be possible for an exhibitor to obtain permission to attend before the Council and explain his position and give his reasons fully, if needs be.

When an exhibitor applies for a British film for the purposes of quota and cannot get one, he should obtain a letter confirming this from the renter. If the exhibitor is unable to obtain such a letter then he should confirm this fact in a letter to the renter. This would be of great use to the exhibitor should a prosecution follow.

Moreover, if there is a prosecution it might considerably help if the exhibitor could get a witness from the renting side or some other well-known exhibitor to support his contention and to show how difficult it is to obtain suitable British films.

In my experience Magistrates are now adopting a more "common law" form of procedure and whilst they listen to the argument as to why it is commercially impracticable to show British films yet they might be much more impressed if evidence can be produced showing the many difficulties in the way of obtaining suitable product.

The Board of Trade did not proceed against quota defaulters in 1947 but I doubt if this will be the procedure adopted for 1948.

Exhibitors under certain circumstances can, of course, claim exemption or relief under the Act.

The Town and Country Planning Act needs very careful consideration especially by exhibitors and other persons wishing to extend and improve their premises. The mode of procedure is very indefinite and up to the time of writing there are no legal decisions on the very many points which have already arisen and which may continue to arise.

The Act came into force on July 1, 1948, and under it no development may take place without the permission of the local planning authority. Normally, when such permission is granted, a payment will have to be made to the Central Land Board of an amount equal to the increase in value of the property. The payment is called a "Development Charge."

Land Development

"Development" means the carrying out of any building, engineering, mining or other operations in, on, over or under land or the making of any material change in the use of any building. For instance, if a single dwelling house was converted into two or more separate buildings this would be "development." The display of advertisements would also be "development."

There are certain minor exceptions to this rule and it should be pointed out that the carrying out of works of maintenance, improvements or other alterations to any building, structure or erections, is not development provided such works affect only the interior of the building and do not materially affect its external appearance.

The making of additional windows and doorways to a building in association with internal conversion, however, may well be said to affect materially the external appearance of the building and thereby bring the internal conversion within the category of "development" for which consent might be required.

The building or erection of a garage also requires express planning permission but, on the other hand, the building or erection of a garage within the curtilage of a dwelling house does not require a development charge provided the total area of ten per cent. or 1,750 cubic feet is not exceeded.

Rebuilding

A building demolished since January 7, 1937, may be rebuilt on the same site without payment of development charge, so long as the new building does not exceed by more than ten per cent. the cubic capacity of the old building and provided there is no change of use. It is necessary to obtain planning permission from the local planning authority before the development can be carried out.

The Act provides for the assessment and collection of this charge by the Central Land Board. When permission to develop is refused no compensation will be paid in the normal case.

If any development is carried out without permission or without compliance with conditions imposed, the local planning authority may, where necessary in the interest of good planning, secure the restoration of the land to its former state or compliance with the conditions.

Whilst the Government takes the view that owners who lose development value as a result of the passing of the Act are not, on that account, entitled to compensation, yet they do recognise the fact that if no payments were made hardship would be caused. It was therefore directed that the capital sum of £300,000,000 should be made available out of which payments may be made to land owners.

Claims for a payment may be made by owners of land in respect of any depreciation in the value of their land resulting from the provisions of the Act, but such claims must be made before June 30, 1949.

One of the expressed new objects of the Act was to make new and more effective provisions for the control of advertisements all over the country. The actual control may be exercised by means of regulations to be made by the Minister. Planning control has always been intimately concerned with amenity but the regard for public safety is new.

Powers are also given under the Act, on payment of compensation, to require the alteration or removal of existing buildings or the suspension of existing uses, to conform to planning requirements.

To sum up, from July 1, 1948, no property must be developed in any way without first obtaining the permission of the local planning authority. If such permission is given then a charge is made and assessed by the Central Land Board for the right to make such development and this is based on the increase in value of the property due to such development. land or buildings have been purchased prior to July 1, 1948, with a view to developing then claims may be made for compensation out of the Fund and the amount of the claim is based more or less on the amount of the Development Charge, which would be assessed.

The Central Land Board assesses and collects the Development Charge whenever development (including a material change of use) improves the value of the land.

During the year questions have again arisen under the Landlord and Tenant Act and perhaps it would be advisable to again briefly set out the tenant's position.

Although it has not yet been possible to obtain a decision of the Court as to the meaning of the term "licensed premises" under the Act —the expression is not defined or interpreted in the Act itselfyet the Referee in a recent case remarked that he thought the legislature meant premises which were licensed to sell alcoholic drink. but as it did not say so he had to find according to the grammatical effect of the language of the Act. That is to say, that these words were effective as barring the applicants from attributing any goodwill to the fact that the premises were licensed as a kinema. It is hoped that at some time in the near future a decision may be obtained.

Compensation for Tenants

The Act was brought into force to compensate, in some measure, the tenant of premises, who, by his own efforts, had increased the business of the premises to an extent which had enhanced their value, enabling the landlord to obtain a higher rent at the termination of the existing tenancy.

Under the Act, in the case of a tenancy terminated by notice, the tenant may, within one month after service of the notice, apply to his landlord for a new lease, the terms of which must be reasonable and compatible with the circumstances.

In any other cases the notice must be given by the tenant to the landlord not more than thirty-six nor less than twelve months before the termination of the tenancy.

On the other hand, if it is apparent that the landlord will not grant a new lease or the circumstances are such that the tenant does not require a new lease, notices can be given within the same periods for payment of compensation for good will. This is payable if the tenant can prove that he or his predecessors by title have carried on the business for a period of not less than five years, and goodwill has become attached to the premises enabling them to let at a higher rent.

In March of this year the Lord Chancellor appointed a Departmental Committee under the Chairmansnip of Lord Uthwatt to inquire into various aspects of the law affecting leasehold property in England and Wales.

Some of the questions being considered were :—

- (i) The right of an occupying tenant to purchase compulsorily the freehold of the property.
- (ii) In what circumstances an occupying tenant should be given security of tenure.
- (iii) The desirability and practicability to control rents for business premises.
- (iv) The further restriction of the rights of a landlord to impose and enforce covenants to repair.
- (v) The giving to the tenant a right of compensation for improvements on the termination of his tenancy.

Objections to the proposals have been put forward. It is considered that it was not advisable for an occupying tenant to be put in the position of having to compulsorily purchase the freehold but it certainly would be fair if he had the option to do so. It was being urged that provision should be made for giving the tenant the right of compensation for goodwill in respect of his kinema.

Rent Control

Rent control, it was considered, was not a workable proposition in respect of kinema premises, particularly from the landlord's point of view, bearing in mind that should anything happen to the licence the landlord would not be able to take immediate possession, if the rent was controlled.

The Control of Employment Act was due to cease on December 31, 1948, but after conversations with industry, the Government decided that the Act should continue in force until December 13, 1949.

- (2) A film shall be deemed for the purposes of this Act to be exhibited as the first feature film at a theatre on any day—
 - (a) if it is the only long film exhibited at that theatre during the normal hours in the ordinary programme on that day;
 - (b) if the daily rental of the film exceeds that of any other long film so exhibited; or
 - (c) (where the daily rental of the film is equal to that of another long film so exhibited, and is not less than that of any other such long film) if it is the last long film so exhibited.
- (3) For the purposes of the last foregoing subsection, the total rental payable by an exhibitor in respect of the exhibition of a film at any theatre during any period (whether ascertained by reference to receipts or otherwise) shall be divided by the number of days in that period on which the film is so exhibited, and the sum so arrived at shall be deemed to be the daily rental of that film.
- (4) In computing for the purposes of subsection (3) of section one of this Act the total exhibited length of the films of any class exhibited at any theatre in any quota period, or in the first six months of any quota period, the registered length of each such film shall be multiplied by the number of occasions on which the film is so exhibited (otherwise than as the first feature film) during the normal hours in the ordinary programme.
- (5) A film registered as a British film which is exhibited at a theatre on any day shall not be deemed for the purposes of this Act to be exhibited during the normal hours in the ordinary programme unless the whole of that film is exhibited at least once between the hours of five and ten p.m.
- (6) A film of which the total labour costs are less than ten shillings per foot shall not be registered as an exhibitors' quota film, and any such film shall be disregarded for the purposes of subsection (2) and (3) of section one of this Act.
- 4. Exemption and relief of certain theatres and itinerant exhibitors.
 - If the Board of Trade are satisfied, on application made to them by an exhibitor who exhibits films to the public at any theatre in Great Britain—
 - (a) that films are so exhibited at not less than two other theatres in the same locality in competition with his theatre;
 - (b) that owing to circumstances beyond the control of the applicant films registered as British films are exhibited at those theatres on dates earlier than the dates on which he is able to exhibit the same films in his theatre,
 - the Board may, if they think fit, direct that in relation to the exhibition of films at the theatre to which the application relates the prescribed percentage for the purposes of subsection (2) or subsection (3) of section one of this Act shall be reduced, in the case of such quota period or periods as may be specified in the direction, by such amount as may be so specified:

- Provided that the Board shall not give any such direction if it appears to them that the theatre is controlled by a person who controls more than two hundred theatres in Great Britain.
- (2) Before giving a direction under the last foregoing subsection, the Board shall consult the Cinematograph Films Council and consider its advice in the matter.
- (3) If upon application made to them as mentioned in subsection (1) of this section not less than three months before the beginning of any quota period the Board are satisfied—
 - (a) that the theatre to which the application relates fulfils the conditions specified in paragraphs (a) and (b) of that subsection; and
 - (b) that the average net box office receipts of the theatre during the year ending six months before the beginning of that quota period did not exceed one hundred pounds per week,
 - the Board shall direct that the foregoing provisions of this Act shall not apply to the exhibition of films at that theatre during that quota period.
- (4) In relation to an exhibitor who, in any quota period, exhibits registered films to the public at theatres in Great Britain (not being theatres of the class described in subsection (3) of this section) but does not so exhibit such films at any one such theatre on more than six days during that period nor at more than one such theatre at the same time, the foregoing provisions of this Act shall have effect as if all the registered films exhibited by him to the public at such theatres in Great Britain in that period were so exhibited at one such theatre.
- (5) The reference in subsection (3) of this section to the net box office receipts of a theatre shall be construed as a reference to the receipts from the sale of seats at all performances at which registered films are shown to the public, after deduction of entertainments duty within the meaning of the Finance (New Duties) Act, 1916. (6 & 7 Geo. 5 · C. 11.)
- 5. Circuit theatres, etc.
- (1) Where application is made to the Board of Trade for a licence under section nine of the principal Act authorising a person to carry on business as an exhibitor at any theatre, and it appears to the Board that the theatre is controlled by a person who controls more than two hundred theatres in Great Britain, any licence issued in pursuance of the application shall be issued subject to the conditions specified in the next following subsection.
- (2) The conditions of any such licence as aforesaid shall be such as appear to the Board to be necessary for securing that the exhibitor will, if so required by the Board, exhibit at the theatre as first feature films, on such occasions as the Board may direct during the quota period in respect of which the licence is granted, not more than six films registered as British films and recommended by a Selection Committee to be appointed by the Board for the purpose as being suitable for such exhibition by reason of their entertainment value.

- (3) A direction given by the Board under any such condition as aforesaid shall be without prejudice to the requirements imposed on the exhibitor by section one of this Act, but any film exhibited in compliance with such a direction shall be taken into account for the purposes of subsection (2) of that section.
- (4) If any such condition as aforesaid is not complied with, the exhibitor shall be guilty of a quota offence unless the Board certify under the principal Act that the failure to comply therewith was due to circumstances beyond the control of the exhibitor and of any person other than the exhibitor having control of the theatre in question, or the exhibitor proves that fact to the satisfaction of the court.
- (5) Notwithstanding anything in subsection (3) of the said section uine, if it appears to the Board that any theatre in respect of which application is made for such a licence as aforesaid is controlled by a person who controls more than two hundred theatres in Great Britain, the Board may refuse to issue a licence authorising the applicant to carry on business as an exhibitor at that theatre unless it is shown to their satisfaction—
 - (a) that the theatre was controlled by that person on the first day of September, nineteen hundred and forty-seven; and
 - (b) that any arrangements in force for securing that the films exhibited at that theatre are the same as those exhibited at other theatres controlled by that person were also in force on the said date.
- 6. Charging of rentals for registered films.
- (r) The rentals payable in respect of all registered films delivered by a renter to an exhibitor for public exhibition at a theatre in Great Britain during the continuance in force of section one of this Act shall be charged separately in respect of each film:

Provided that nothing in this subsection shall render unlawful an agreement between a renter and an exhibitor for the delivery as aforesaid of two or more films at an inclusive rental, if the proportion of the rental to be attributed to each film is defined on or before the delivery of those films.

- (2) If any film of which the rental is charged in contravention of this section is delivered to an exhibitor as aforesaid, the renter shall be guilty of an offence and liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding fifty pounds.

- (2) Any committee of the Council may include persons who are not members of the Council, and any such committee may co-opt as additional members of the committee such persons, whether members of the Council or not, as the committee may, with the approval of the Council, determine.
- 9. Amendments of principal Act and repeals.
- (1) Subject to the provisions of this section, the provisions of the principal Act specified in Part I of the First Schedule to this Act shall have effect subject to the amendments set out in relation thereto in the second column of that Schedule, being amendments for securing the continuance in force of those provisions, minor amendments, and amendments consequential on the provisions of this Act; and the enactments specified in Part II of that Schedule are hereby repealed.

- Provided that the Board of Trade may refuse to grant such a licence, unless the applicant has furnished to the Board such information, verified in such manner as they may reasonably require for the purpose of satisfying themselves that he is not so disqualified, or for the purpose of satisfying themselves as to any matter which is relevant for the purposes of the said section five.
- (4) Subject as hereinafter provided, a licence under this section authorising a person to carry on business as an exhibitor shall be limited so as to extend only to the exhibition of registered films at such one theatre in Great Britain as may be specified in the licence.

- Provided that, where any application is made under this subsection to the Board, they shall, before determining the application, consult the Cinematograph Films Council and consider its advice in the matter.
- (2) For the purposes of the Cinematograph Films Act, 1948, a failure on the part of a person to fulfil any requirement of section one of that Act shall be deemed to have been due to circumstances beyond the control of that person if, owing to the character of the films available or to the excessive cost of such films, it was not commercially practicable to fulfil that requirement; and a failure to exhibit a film in accordance with a condition in that behalf imposed by a licence in pursuance of section five of the Cinematograph Films Act, 1948, shall be deemed to have been due to circumstances beyond the control of a person if he was not able to acquire the right to exhibit that film on reasonable terms.

PART II. Restrictions on Blind Booking and Advance Booking of Films.

17.—Restriction on blind booking.

(1) No renter shall, in the period beginning at the commencement of this Act and ending with the expiry of section one of the Cinematograph Films Act, 1948, procure the giving by an exhibitor (whether for a consideration or not, and whether orally or in writing) of any such undertaking as would, if it were legally binding on the exhibitor, impose on him an obligation, either actual or contingent, to take delivery of a film to which this Act applies, for public exhibition at a theatre in Great Britain, being a film which had not been trade-shown at the time of his giving the undertaking:

Provided that this subsection shall not operate

so as to restrict-

(a) in relation to any serial film or series of films the making, at a time when at least three parts of the film or series have been trade-shown, of an agreement for the public exhibition of any part thereof.

- (b) the making, in relation to any one film, of an agreement for the exhibition of that film at one theatre only and on a number of consecutive days, or

- (2) Where, in relation to any one film, there have been made, at a time when that film has not been trade-shown, several agreements the purport of which taken together is to provide for the public exhibition of that film in Great Britain either at more than one theatre or otherwise than on consecutive days, the benefit of paragraph (b) of the proviso to the preceding subsection shall not extend to any of those agreements; and where, in relation to any one film, there have been made, at a time when that film has not been trade-shown, several agreements the purport of which taken together is to provide for the public exhibition of the film in Great Britain either on more than three days or at more than three theatres, the benefit of paragraph (c) of the said proviso shall not extend to any of those agreements.
- In relation to any film being a part of a serial film or series of films, the preceding provisions of this subsection shall have effect as if, in those provisions, for the words "when that film has not been trade-shown," in each place where those words occur, there were substituted the words "before three parts of that serial film or series of films have been trade-shown."

18 .- Restriction on advance booking.

- No renter shall, in any renters' licensing year, procure the giving by an exhibitor (whether for a consideration or not, and whether orally or in writing) of any such undertaking as would, if it were legally binding on the exhibitor, impose on him an obligation, either actual or contingent, to take delivery of a film to which this Act-applies for public exhibition at a theatre in Great Britain at a date later than six months after the date on which he gives the undertaking.
- Provided that, in relation to any serial film or series of films, this section shall not operate so as to restrict the making of an agreement in so far as it provides for any part of the film or series being exhibited after three parts thereof have been exhibited to the public at a theatre in Great Britain.

19.—Penalties

 - (a) in the case of an agreement made before the expiry of section one of the Cinematograph Films Act, 1948, it purports to impose on any exhibitor an obligation, either actual or contingent, to take delivery of a film to which this Act applies for public exhibition at a theatre in Great Britain, being a film which has not been tradeshown at the time of the making of the agreement, or

- (b) in the case of an agreement made more than six months before the expiry of the said section one, it purports to impose on any exhibitor an obligation, either actual or contingent, to take delivery of a film to which this Act applies for public exhibition at a theatre in Great Britain at a date later than six months after the date on which the agreement is made:
- Provided that the preceding provisions of this subsection shall not apply in relation to any agreement the making of which is unrestricted by virtue of the proviso to subsection (r) of section seventeen of this Act or the proviso to section eighteen of this Act, as the case may be.

21.—Information to be furnished by renters to Board of Trade for purposes of Part II.

A renter shall, whenever requested so to do by a person authorised in that behalf by the Board of Trade, produce to that person such books or other documents, and furnish to that person such other information, with respect to any film delivered or to be delivered by him to any exhibitor in Great Britain for public exhibition therein, being a film to which this Act applies, as the Board may require for the purpose of the enforcement of this Part of this Act or the Cinematograph Films Act, 1948.

- (1) No person shall, in the period beginning at the commencement of this Act and ending with the expiry of section one of the Cinematograph Films Act, 1948, deliver to an exhibitor in Great Britain for public exhibition therein any film to which this Act applies, unless, at the time of the delivery, the film is a registered film; and no person shall, in the said period, exhibit to the public at a theatre in Great Britain any film to which this Act applies, being a film which he knows, or ought to have known, not to be a registered film:
- Provided that this subsection shall not restrict the delivery or exhibition, in pursuance of a valid agreement for its exhibition at one theatre only on a number of consecutive days, of a film in respect of which a provisional application for registration has been made, if the film is trade-shown within six weeks from the date on which the application was made, and shall not restrict—
 - (a) the delivery or exhibition of any film which has been exhibited in Great Britain to exhibitors or to the public before the commencement of this Act, other than a film which was first so exhibited after the end of September nineteen hundred and twenty-seven and is a film to which the Act of 1927 then applied, or
 - (b) the delivery or exhibition, in pursuance of valid agreements for its exhibition on not more than three days and at not more than three theatres, of a film which, at the time of the delivery or exhibition, has not been trade-shown.

CINEMATOGRAPH ACT, 1909.

All kinematograph exhibitions must be held at premises which are licensed (s. 1).

This Act was passed for making better provision for securing safety at kinematograph and other exhibitions.

Under Clause 1, provided premises comply with the regulations laid down by the Secretary of State, which are regulations dealing with the question of safety, nothing more is required.

All premises must hold a licence where inflammable films are used. The Act contains no definition of the word "inflammable."

Exceptions.—A licence is not necessary in the following cases:—

(a) Where non-flammable films are used (as to whether a film is non-flammable or flammable is one of fact for the Justices to decide). (See Victoria Pier, Lid. v. Reeves, 1912, 28 T.L.R. 443; also see re Dickman and Moore, Times Newspaper, December 17, 1912.) (Note.—If an exhibitor holds a licence for premises upon which he originally used inflammable films and decides in future to use non-flammable films only, he is still bound by the conditions on the licence granted although otherwise no licence would be necessary.)

(b) For exhibitions in private dwelling-houses where the general public are not admitted whether on payment or otherwise. (Note.— A hospital has been held not to be a private house under Section 7 of the Act, for which a licence is required—National Hospital for Paralysed and Epileptic Persons, Times, October 11, 1913.)

(c) where premises are only used occasionally and not more than six days in any one year. But in this case the occupier must—

i. Give seven days' notice in writing to the Licensing Authority and the chief officer of police of the police area;

ii. Comply with the regulations as to safety;iii. Comply with any conditions imposed in writing by the Licensing Authority.

(d) On premises used for the purpose of exhibiting films to bona-fide purchasers—Att.-Gen. v. Vitagraph Co., 1915, C.H. 206.

Movable Buildings or Structures, provided the owner

(a) Has a licence in respect of the building or structure from the Licensing Authority for the district where he ordinarily resides. (b) Has given two days' notice in writing to the Licensing Authority for the district where the exhibition is to take place, and to the chief officer of police of the police area.

(c) Complies with any conditions imposed in writing by the Licensing Authority.

Regulations as to Safety.

These are made by the Home Secretary (Act s. 1) except in Scotland and Ireland, where the Secretaries for Scotland and Ireland respectively exercise this power (Act ss. 8 and 9). They are known as the Cinematograph Regulations, 1910 (Statutory Rules and Orders [1910] No. 189) and 1913 (St. R. & O. [1913] No. 566). Every owner and manager of a kinema must make himself familiar with these regulations, which are binding, even if the conditions of the licence happen to be inconsistent with them.

Licensing Authority.

(1) England.—The Council of the County or County Borough, but as a rule these powers are, in the first instance at least, exercised by a committee. Where the place is licensed by the Lord Chamberlain for stage plays, that official also grants kinematograph licences.

The County or County Borough Council may delegate these powers to the local justices (Act s. 5). Licensing Justices sit as an administrative body, not as a Court of Summary Jurisdiction—Huish v. Liverpool Justices, [1914] r K.B. 109. Therefore they have no power to state a case. Doubtful if amy appeal of licensing authorities where a licence is refused without any reason.

If reasons are stated and not been satisfactory or a proper hearing has not been given, proceedings by way of mandamus should be taken to the Court of Appeal. A further appeal in such a case can be taken to the House of Lords, or proceedings might be taken in the King's Bench Division for a declaration that proposed conditions which the Licensing Authorities have decided to put upon licences are ultra vires, and an injunction asked for to restrain the authorities from enforcing same. In cases before the Court of Summary Jurisdiction where the procedure is by way of case stated to the Divisional Court no further appeal is allowed.

(2) Scotland.—The Council of the County or the

(2) Scotland.—The Council of the County or the magistrates of a royal parliamentary or police burgh. There is no power of delegation (Act s. 8).

(3) IRELAND.—The Council of the County or County Borough or Urban District or the Commissioners of the Town. There is no power of delegation, but a County Council may, in writing, authorise any officer of the Council to exercise any of the powers of the Act (Act s. 9).

Grant, Renewal and Transfer of Licences.

- Licences are normally for one year, but may be for shorter periods (Act s. 2 (2)). The Act makes no provision for granting provisional licences.
- For new grants or transfers seven days' notice in writing must be given to the Licensing Authority and to the chief officer of police of the police area, but no notice need be given in the case of a renewal (Act s. 2 (4)).
- FEES PAYABLE.—One year's licence (grant or renewal), fi. Shorter periods, 5s. a month but not to exceed fi for every year). Transfers, 5s. (Act s. 2 (5)).
- LICENSEES.—The Licensing Authority has a discretion (Act s. 2 (1) (3)). Where the refusal was based on the ground that several of the directors and the majority of the shareholders of the company in question were alien enemies, the refusal was upheld by the Court (Rex v. L.C.C. ex parte London and Provincial Electric Theatres, [1915] 2 K.B. 466).
- CONDITIONS.—Under Clause 2, Section 1, Licensing Authorities have much further powers than those given under Clause 1, as they can grant licences subject to such conditions as they may think fit in addition to the regulations of the Secretary of State as regards safety. The condition must be reasonable—L.C.C. v. Bermondsey Bioscope, 80 L.J.K. 1314. It has been argued on the words of the Act that these must be decided upon when the application for each licence is made, and not determined beforehand (e.g., most of the authorities issue a list of conditions which licensees must submit to), but this argument has not met with favour (see Rex v. Burnley Justices (1916), 32 T.L.R. at p. 696).
 - Conditions or undertakings which have been upheld in the Courts include Against opening on Sundays and Holy Days, even where non-inflammable films used (L.C.c. v. Bermondsey Bioscope Co. [1911], I.K.B. 445; Ellis v. North Metropolitan Theatres [1915] 2 K.B. 61). Against showing any film to which the Authority objects (ex. parte Stott, [1916] I.K.B. 7); As to hours of opening and closing (Rex. v. Burnley Justices, supra). Against showing any licentious or indecent film (Rex. v. Burnley Justices, supra).

- There is a distinction between conditions and undertakings and a condition as to the admission of children has been held bad (Halifax Theatre de Luxe v. Gledhill, [1915] 2 K.B. 46), but an undertaking of not so widespread a character relating to the same matter has been upheld (Rex v. Burnley Justices, supra).
- Breach of a condition is an offence for which the licensee may be fined, and at once lose his licence; breach of an undertaking may lead to refusal of renewal.
- A condition that no film can be shown if a specified number of justices object is void, as different groups may think differently (Rex v. Burnley Justices, supra).
- Where the Licensing Authority enforce a condition that no film to which the Authority objects may be shown, the owner of the film is apparently without any adequate remedy (exparte Stott, [1916] I. K.B. 7; Stott v. Gamble, [1916] 2 K.B. 504).
- A condition that no film be shown which has not been certified for public exhibition by the British Board of Film Censors is ultra vires, as it sets up in place of the Licensing Committee another Body whose ipse dixit should be a test of what might be exhibited. (Ellis v. Dubouski, [1921] 3 K.B.D.)
- As to whether, therefore, the above conditions are intra vires is somewhat doubtful, and it might be argued that even if a film had not been censored and no notice given to the Local Licensing Authority, the only legal ground for proceeding against an exhibitor for showing the picture would be that of indecency.
- The argument was upheld in a summons brought against an exhibitor in the Midlands, by the Licensing Authority, on the condition that if it was desired to show a film that had not been passed by the Censor, three clear days' notice must be sent to the Licensing Authority,
- Police Supervision.—Any police officer and any person authorised by the Licensing Authority may enter any premises (whether licensed or not) where he has reason to believe that a kinematograph exhibition is being or is about to be given. A police officer needs no authority, and while there may pay attention to any other breaches of the law that he may suspect (McVittie v. Turner, [1916] 85 L.J.K.B. 23). If anyone prevents or obstructs him, the offender is liable to be fined up to £20 (Act s. 4).
- A Constable without consent is not entitled to take away a piece of a film for the purpose of testing whether it is inflammable or non-flammable.

Penalties.

Besides the offence just mentioned, the owner of a kinematograph or other apparatus who uses it or allows it to be used in contravention of the Act or the Regulations or the conditions of the licence, and the occupier of premises who allows them to be used in contravention of the same, may be fined up to £20, and in the case of a continuing offence £5 aday, and the licence may be revoked on conviction (Act s. 3). The manager of a kinema owned by a company is not an occupier, and cannot be summoned as such (Bruce v. McMaines, [1915] 3 K.B. I).

A kinematograph licence does not authorise musical accompaniments. A music licence is not necessary where music is subsidiary to the picture—See Hallinan, 73 J.P.N. 458.

THEATRE AND MUSIC AND DANCING LICENCES may also be necessary. Theatre Licences for Stage Plays are obtained from the Lord Chamberlain in London, and from the justices elsewhere. Music and Dancing Licences are granted by the County and County Borough Councils, who can delegate this power to the local justices.

Music and Dancing Licences in London are governed by the Music Hall Act, 1751. In Middlesex by the Music and Dancing Middlesex Act, 1894. In other areas beyond 20 miles from the Cities of London and Westminster under the Public Health Acts (Amendment Act), 1890, Sec. 4. Music Licences are renewable only once each year. They may contain conditions (in view of the section of the Public Health Act) different to the conditions of a kinematograph licence, as that act does not apply to Music and Dancing Licence does not authorise stage plays, nor does a Theatre Licence, under the Theatre Act, 1843, include Music and Dancing Children.

Where an entertainment is given for children (i.e., under fourteen), or the majority of persons present are children, and their number exceeds one hundred, and access to any part of the building is by stairs, then it is the duty of the occupier (if he is paid) and of the person giving the entertainment (in any case) to see that an adequate number of adult attendants are present to prevent overcrowding in any part, to control the movements of the audience when entering and leaving, and also to take all reasonable precautions for safety. Police officers have the right of entry. The penalty for a first offence is up to £50, for a second or subsequent offence up to £700, and any licence held in respect of the building may be revoked (Children Act, 1908, s. 121). The kinematograph licence is not mentioned, as it had not come into existence at that date.

The Employment of Children Act, 1903, s.1; enables local authorities to make bye-laws relating to the employment of children (i.e., under fourteen), and many of them have exercised this power. A licensee should inquire at the council offices whether the local authority of his district has made any by-law affecting him (e.g., as to programme, sweet, or cigarette sellers, etc.).

No child (under sixteen) employed half-time in a factory or workshop may be employed elsewhere (Act 1903, s. 3 (3)), nor may any child be employed before six a.m. or after nine p.m., unless the local by-laws allow it (Act 1903, s. 3 (1)). The fine is up to 40s. for a first offence, and £5 afterwards (Act 1903, s. 5 (1)).

Under the Children and Young Persons Act, 1933, where there is provided in any building an entertaiment for children or an entertainment at which the majority of the persons attending are children, then, if the number of children attending the entertainment exceeds one hundred the person providing the entertainment must station and keep stationed wherever necessary a sufficient number of adult attendants, properly instructed as to their duties, to prevent more children or other persons being admitted to the building and to control the movement of the children and other persons admitted while entering and leaving the building or any part thereof, and to take all other reasonable precautions for the safety of the children.

Under Section 4 of this Act a constable may enter the building at any time with a view to seeing whether the provisions of the Act are being properly carried out.

By the Royal assent having been given to the Shops Hours of Closing Act, 1928, patrons can buy tobacco, matches, table waters, sweets, chocolates or other sugar confectionery or ice-cream at any time during performances in any Theatre, Kinema, Music Hall or other similar place of entertainment so long as the sale is to bona-fide members of the audience and not on a part of the building to which other members of the public have access.

This does away with the ban put upon Kinemas by D.O.R.A. some years ago.

Admission.

Admission can only be given by ticket stamped with a mark denoting that duty has been paid, or in special cases, if the Commissioners approve, through a barrier which automatically registers the numbers admitted. But the proprietor can make arrangements with the Commissioners dispensing with these conditions on the terms of furnishing certified returns at stated times and giving security for due payment of the duty. Penalty for breach; Proprietor, £50 and duty; Person admitted, £5. Special provision is made for lump sum payments in the case of clubs or societies, or in the case of season tickets or tickets for a series of entertainments.

Duty is not payable where the Commissioners are satisfied:

- (a) That the proceeds are devoted to philanthropic or charitable purposes without deduction of expenses; or
- (b) That the entertainment is wholly educational (in case of difference the Board of Education decides); or
- (c) That the entertainment is provided for partly educational or partly scientific purposes by a society, and not run for profit; or
- (d) That it is provided by or on behalf of a school or educational institution if the school or institution is not run for profit, and the entertainment is provided solely for promoting some object of the school or institution, and that all the persons who are:

performers are under sixteen and are scholars or ex-scholars of the school or institution.

In the case of a charity performance where the whole of the expenses are deducted, but do not exceed 20 per cent. of the receipts, the duty is repaid to the proprietor.

Any officer of excise authorised to do so may enter a place of entertainment and any person who prevents or obstructs him is liable to a fine up to f_{20} .

The Commissioners can make regulations, any breach of which entails an excise penalty of £50, and they may make arrangements whereby the local authority (county, borough, or urban district council), or the police may exercise all or any of the powers of the Commissioners as to this duty. The law is contained in the Finance (New Duties) Act, 1916, ss. 1 and 2, and the Finance Act, 1916, 2. 12.

Transit by Rail.

RAILWAY REGULATIONS IN REGARD TO FILM BOXES.—The specification of the Railway Clearing House of the type of metal boxes required by the Railway Companies to be used for the transit of films is as follows:

Boxes must be rectangular, wood-lined cases, to hold not more than six films and measure not more than 14½ inches outside either way. They must be made of galvanised iron of not less thickness than .022 of an inch (No. 25

B.G.) for the small one and two film cases and not less than .028 of an inch (No. 23 B.G.) for the larger sizes (three to six film cases).

All the corners of the sides and bottom must be strengthened by folding seams, the top of the body having wired edges turned inwards. The hinge lid must be turned down all round for a depth of one and a quarter inches. It must fit over the body of the case and have wired edges turned outwards. It must be attached to the body by two strong hinges, firmly riveted to both body and lid, and fastened by stout wire hasps fitting over iron staples riveted to the front of the case. Each hasp and staple must be locked, either by padlock or by a spring safety hook, permanently to the staple by a short length of stout chain. Cases for one and two films need only have one clasp and staple fastening; other sizes must have two.

Other conditions are that a thin metal labe frame, open at the top, must be riveted to the case in such a position that the top edge of the label frame is covered by the lid when closed; all the boxes must be completely lined with plain wood of half-inch thickness fastened by rivets to the lid and body of the case; the following words must be painted in black on the lid: "Cinema Films," in one-inch block letters, and "Keep in a cool place," in letters five-eighths of an inch depth. No other lettering must appear on the lid. The name and address of the owners may be painted on the sides or ends, and the cases must be unpainted.

OTHER LEGISLATION IN BRIEF

Sunday Observance Act, 1781.—Any house opened for Public amusement or debate on a Sunday to which persons shall be admitted by payment of money shall be deemed a Disorderly House—Penalty £200 for every Sunday opened. (Note)—If a reasonable number of persons are admitted free there is no offence under the Act in making a charge for a reserved seat; it will be noted that the Act speaks of admission, not to a seat, but to the entertainment.

(See Sunday Entertainments Act, 1932.)

New Regulation Under Cinematograph Act, 1909—1923.—Exhibitors should always keep a copy of these regulations by them as they take the place of the previous regulations dated 18th February, 1910, and 20th May, 1913.

Finance Act, 1920.—This was an Act passed to grant certain duties to Customs and Inland Revenue, to alter other duties, and to amend the law relating to Customs and Inland Revenue and the National Debt and to make further provision in connection with finance.

Unemployment Insurance Act, 1920, was an Act passed to amend the Law in respect of Insurance against Unemployment. All persons of the age of 16 and upwards who are engaged in employment as specified by the Act shall be insured against unemployment in manner provided by the Act.

Children and Young Persons Act, 1933.—A child under 14 may not take part in any entertainment in connection with which any charge is made to the audience except under a licence granted by the local education authority. The licence may be granted only if the child has attained the age of 12 years and the authority must be satisfied that the child is fit to take part in the entertainment.

The Entertainments Duty Regulations, 1921, are regulations made by the Commissioner of Customs and Excise under Section 2 of the Finance New Duties Act, 1916, for securing the payment of Entertainments Duty.

The points to be noted are that the price of admission must be printed on the tickets. Adhesive stamps are not to be issued except upon the tickets. No tickets other than stamped tickets to be issued on payment made for admission. Tickets and stamps to be issued undefaced and defaced subsequently

No Government ticket is to be used for admitting more than one person. (Note: Arrangements approved by the Commissioners can be made for providing returns of payments for admission to an entertainment.)

- The Rating and Valuation Act, 1925, was passed (inter alia) to define what machinery and plant was deemed to be part of the hereditament for rating purposes.
- Home Counties, Music and Dancing Licences Act, 1926.—This was an Act passed to amend the law as regards Music and Dancing Licences in parts of certain Home Counties and in certain County Boroughs adjacent thereto.
 It gave powers to the Council to grant licences for any period not exceeding 13 months to such persons as they thought fit.
- Under this Act the Council can delegate all or any of its powers to a Committee consisting wholly or partly of members of the Council.
- Landlord and Tenant Act, 1927.—This Act came into force on the 25th March, 1927. It provides (inter alia) for compensation for improvements and compensation for loss of goodwill.
- Trade Unions and Trade Disputes Act, 1927, amends the law relating to Trade Disputes and Trade Unions and regulates the position of Civil Servants and persons employed by public authorities in respect of membership of trade unions and similar organisations and to extend section 5 of the Conspiracy and Protection of Property Act, 1875.
- The Rating and Valuation Act, 1928, was an Act passed to extend to the Administrative County of London the provisions of the Rating and Valuation Act, 1925, with respect to the valuation of hereditaments containing machinery and plant and to make temporary provision with respect to the deduction to be made in ascertaining the rateable value—to amend Sections 11 and 37 and the 4th and 5th Schedules of the 1925 Act and to provide for the tenant decisions on points of law with a view to securing uniformity in valuation.
- The Rating and Valuation (Apportionment) Act, 1928, was an Act passed to make provision with a view to granting of relief from rates in respect of certain classes of hereditaments to be affected and the apportionment in Valuation Lists of the net annual value of such hereditaments according to the extent and user thereof for various purposes.
- Section 3, subsection I of this Act contains provisions as to "Industrial Hereditaments." "Industrial Hereditaments has been defined to mean a hereditament occupied and used as a mine or mineral railway or as a factory or workshop. A hereditament though part of it may be in law a "factory" or "workshop" is not to be treated as an Industrial hereditament if the premises as a whole are not primarily used for the purposes of a factory or workshop.
- With regard to the position of a Kinematograph Theatre, in view of the fact that the premises are not used primarily for the purposes of a factory or workshop I do not consider it - comes under the heading of Industrial Hereditament" and therefore does not appear to be entitled to "relief" as an "Industrial hereditament."

- The Rating and Valuation (Apportionment) Act Rules, 1928, made by the Minister of Health under section 58 of the Rating and Valuation Act, 1925, and of the Rating and Valuation (Apportionment) Act, 1928, prescribes the forms of notices, claims and lists to be used for the purposes of the first Schedule to the last mentioned Act and the dates to be observed in connection with the preparation and approval of lists under that Schedule.

COPYRIGHT

Under the Copyright Act, 1911, the owner of a literary or dramatic work has the sole right to make a kinematograph film or other contrivance by which the same may be mechanically performed, and to authorise such acts. Before the Act it was held that there was no such right (Karno v. Pathé Frères, 100 L.T.

Infringement is doing without the owner's consent anything which conflicts with the owner's rights. It includes selling, or letting for hire, or by way of trade exposing or offering for sale or hire, or by way of trade exhibiting in public or importing for sale or hire any work which infringes copyright or would do so if the work had been made in the country where infringement takes place. It also includes the case of a person who, for his private profit, permits a theatre or place of entertainment to be used for the public performance of a work without the owner's consent unless the person so doing was not aware and had no reasonable ground for suspecting that it was an infringement.

Copyright lasts during the life of the author and fifty years after his death. In the case of photographs, it is fifty years from the making of the original negative. All transfers or licences must be in writing and signed by the owner or his agent. The author cannot assign his copyright for longer than twenty-five vears after his death.

A compulsory licence can be obtained twentyfive or thirty years after the author's death, but this provision cannot apply before 1936 at the earliest. The Privy Council has the power to grant a compulsory licence at any time after the author's death if it is proved that the work has been published or performed in public, and the present owner of the copyright has refused to allow republication, etc., so that the work is in effect withheld from the public.

An employee or apprentice does not acquire the copyright in work he does for his employer. Where a photograph is taken at the order of the sitter, who pays for it, he, and not the photographer, is the owner. It is a criminal offence to infringe copyright knowingly, and the offender is liable to a fine up to 40s. for every copy, but not more than £50 for any one transaction. In the case of second or subsequent offences, the justices can send the offender to prison for two months without the option of a fine, and in all cases may order the copies to be destroyed. No criminal charge under the Act can be brought more than six months after the Act complained of. In civil proceedings the usual remedy is an injunction, but the defendant is also liable for damages unless he proves not merely that he did not know of the copyright, but also that he had no reasonable grounds for sus-pecting its existence. For example, if a kinema proprietor hires a film to show at one hall, he is liable for damages if he shows it at any other place (Fenning Film Service v. Wolverhampton, etc., Cinemas [1914] 3 K.B. 1171). Where the alleged infringement is such that the Court would not protect it as an original work (e.g., on the ground of indecency), the owner of the copyright cannot sue under the Act, but can claim damages for defamatory representation of his work (Glyn v. Western Feature Film Co. [1916] 1 Ch. 261). The proper way to prove a film is to call someone who has seen it shown and not to produce the film unless some point turns on the film itself.

THE CELLULOID ACT

An Act known as "The Celluloid and Cine-matograph Film Act of 1922" has been passed to make better provision for the prevention of fire in premises where raw celluloid or kinematograph films are stored or used. The purposes to which this Act applies are :-

(1) The keeping or storing of raw celluloid-

- (a) In quantitites exceeding at any one time one hundredweight; or
- (b) In smaller quantities unless kept (except when required to be exposed for the purpose of the work carried on in the premises) in a properly closed metal box or case; and
- (2) The keeping or storing of kinematograph
 - (a) In quantities exceeding at any one time twenty reels or eighty pounds in weight, or
 - (b) In smaller quantities unless each reel is kept (except when required to be exposed for the purpose of the work carried on in the premises) in a separate and properly closed metal box or case :--

Provided that :-

(i) For the purpose of this Act, kine-matograph film shall be deemed to be kept in any premises where it is temporarily deposited for the purpose of examination, cleaning, packing, re-winding or repair, but celluloid or kinematograph film shall not be deemed to be kept or stored in any premises where it is temporarily deposited whilst in the course of delivery, conveyance or transport; and

(ii) The provisions of this Act shall not, i) The provisions of this Act shall not, except in the cases referred to in paragraphs (c), (d) and (e) of Subsection (1) of Section 1 thereof, apply to premises to which the Factory and Workshop Acts, 1901 to 1920, apply. Nor do the provisions of this Act apply to premises licensed under the Cinematograph Act, 1909. It should be pointed out, however, that under this Act any Officer duly authorised by a local authority may at authorised by a local authority may at any time take for analysis sufficient samples of any material which he suspects to be or to contain Celluloid.

HOME OFFICE REGULATIONS, 1923

The 1923 Regulations under the Cinematograph Act, 1909, are somewhat important, and have been somewhat amended from their original form, owing to various meetings that took place between the Sub-Committee of the

C.E.A. and the Home Office.

The Regulations took the place of previous Regulations of February 18, 1910, and May 20, 1913. The Regulations must be exhibited in the enclosure and easily accessible to operators. They are dated July 30, 1923, and operate from that date, but they would not affect any licence for the period for which it was granted, though, of course, when the same is renewed the new conditions will appear.

As regards clause 4, "Fire Appliances" foot-note should be noticed as it lays down that a fireman need not be employed exclusively in taking charge of the fire appliances. He must not, however, be given other work during an exhibition which would take him away from the building or otherwise prevent him from being immediately available in case of danger or alarm of fire.

or aiarm of fire.

As regards No. 5, "Smoking," it should be observed that notices stating that smoking is prohibited shall be kept posted in the enclosure and film room or anywhere where films are stored, wound or repaired.

nims are stored, wound or repaired.

As regards No. 7, relating to enclosure, fireresisting material now includes teak or oak not less than two inches thick.

With regard to clause 7, "Enclosures," Sec. 8, it will be noticed that in case of need the enclosure may be left for a short period in charge of a competent assistant over 16 years of age.

As to what is the exact definition of a "competent operator," one does not know, but apparently it can be taken to mean that an operator who can satisfactorily operate would come within the definition of a "competent operator.'

With regard to clause 13, "Lighting," it should be pointed out that if the general lighting is by electricity the safety lighting shall be by (a) electricity from another source (b) gas or (c) oil or candles.

One does not take this to mean that the safety lighting, if electricity, shall be taken from an entirely different supply, but merely that there shall be primary and secondary lighting installed in the building, the intention of course, being that should the electric light supply be temporarily interrupted, the theatre will not be put into darkness.

Clause 14, on "Electrical Installation," it should lause 14, on "Bleetrical Installation, it should be noticed that the Wiring Rules of the Institution of Electrical Engineers apply, a copy of which can always be obtained from Odhams Press Ltd., Technical Book Dept., 85, Long Acre, London, W.C.2. Price, 1s. 2d., post free.

It should be observed that Sections A, E, F and G of these Regulations do not apply to wiring in existence before July 30, 1923, except in the event of such wiring being altered or renewed.

With regard to clause 15, it should be noticed that the requirements in paragraphs C, D, M and N shall not apply to apparatus in use before the date of these Regulations, and the requirements in paragraphs E, G, I, J and K do not apply until July 29, 1925, except in the event of the apparatus being renewed or materially altered.

OVERSEAS MARKETS

Overseas Markets

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

IT was a "British year" for the American picture industry. True, exhibitors, distributors, producers, were faced with other important problems, problems which included decreasing grosses, larger operating costs, litigation which promised to revolutionise the industry's business practices, taxes, legislation, and a foreign market problem, of which the British question is only a phase. None the less the British aspect continued to occupy the greater amount of industry discussion and action.

Some sceptics intimated, probably without any justice, that the British question was a screen which might be used to cover other embarrassing questions to the industry. That it was a refuge which would be convenient if dividends had to be passed and that it could divert attention from the fact that some producer-distributors were not making the type of pictures which were successful, even at the American box office.

Market Problems

The truth probably is that the British market is regarded as the most important foreign outlet. When 1948 came on to the scene, no one was seriously worried with the possibility of market trouble in England. The American industry assumed the viewpoint that American films could hold their own in world markets anywhere, an assumption which it still holds. The problem then was finding a market for British pictures in the United States. That, the industry considered, was quite a serious problem. For while there was a desire to give it a break and carry out the international trade and free market speeches which Eric Johnston, president of the M.P.A.A. made, the industry was faced with a stiff truth—the average British picture is not box-office in the United States. Exhibitors actually would have been glad to book this product-at rental terms advantageous to them to break open a product jam which gave them trouble. How serious this jam was may be understood when it was learned that many a house in the United States devoted a night, or several nights, a week to foreign-language films, and that the Skouras Theatres in New York, at war with Paramount over rentals, and unable to get that product, was practically forced to take foreign language films to keep its

But the larger portion of British films would not hold their own nationally, a fact which may be attributed to the adult view that they took of life, when the American scene, as far as motion pictures are concerned, tends to a film which the entire family can enjoy. A film like "Great Expectations" suffered in many instances because of inadequate exploitation, but at the time inadequate exploitation, born of war-easy years, was also a shortcoming in the American field.

Then came the ad valorem tax and the Big American headache—the quota law, made it obvious to the American industry that the era of the lucrative foreign market had gone. Both instances pointed to the need of making pictures which would realise profits in the home market. And both have provided reasons for wage parings, discharges, studio shutdowns, and other moves which brought up problems of their

At the time of writing, the industry seems to have found that it can make pictures for the American market and make profits at the same time. It also caused distributors to think anew in terms of quicker play-off to get their earnings back more quickly to satisfy the banks and other financing sources. The question of clearance, which for many years has been fought over at arbitration boards, in courts, and in contract dealing, has moved to the place where distributors are actually doing something about it. The future indicates less and less protection on different runs where this can be put into effect against the opposition of the large circuits.

These large circuits are the ones which have established many of the industry's trade practices which the U.S. Government frowns upon. Not only did the Government institute several actions against circuits for violation of the nation's anti-monopoly laws, but it also brought the "big suit" against the eight brought the big suit against the eight major distributors on grounds of monopoly. Distribution costs were cut—largely by discharging personnel. In production the budgets were brought down in some instances by drastic studio overhaulings.

Television Competition

Television is actually proving competition where it is advanced. Theatres had made no serious effort to procure channels for their use on a national basis, but TOA is seeking to organise exhibitors into a booking organisation to furnish television events.

Paramount has shown some excellent television fight pictures; RCA carried out a successful experiment in Philadelphia at the Fox with its screening of the Louis-Walcott fight, an event which was next tele-cast by Paramount in New York. The event was important for both houses paid royalties to the fight sponsors who had procured injunctions in three cities against the pick-up of the event if admission charges were Activity in television was stepped up at the beginning of the year when International News Service, its photo associate, INP, and Telenews joined hands to produce a weekly television reel followed by a daily reel issued five days a week. Twentieth-Fox entered the arena with its video reel daily, and exhibitors began a short-lived protest.

Monogram resold old pictures to the Columbia Broadcasting System for television; Sir Alexander Korda closed a deal for 24 re-issues with the result that at least one exhibitor found he had bought a Korda re-issue which was being televised on the same night he was exhibiting the film at his theatre.—WILLIAM SPECHT.

AUSTRALIA

PRINCIPAL features of the 1948 year in Australia were the marked decline in the popularity of British products; substantial expansion of the Hoyts and Greater Union Theatres coupled with the record profits made by the major circuits; an acceleration in the tempo of local production and the invasion of the local projection equipment field by English manufacturers.

British films, which a year ago were doing such powerful business, have slipped alarmingly. The slip is due to one fault—inferior product. British films have not been able to sustain any really long runs with the exception of "Hamlet," which ran several weeks.

Greater Union bought out the Clifford circuit of some 20 houses in South Australia, acquired first one new theatre in Sydney suburbs, then bought out a small circuit in Manly, a densely populated residential area just across the Harbour from Sydney. A new theatre in the Port Kembla area was also due to open early in the year.

GU also bought the controlling interest in Automatic Film Laboratories and has given up the Cinesound processing plant.

Hoyts expansion began in Sydney with the erection of two Quonset-type theatres, the Castle and the Crest, both at Granville (Sydney). An old theatre, out of commission for many years, the Chatswood (Sydney)-Dreadnought, was also reopened as the Esquire. The greatest addition to the Hoyts circuit, however, was the re-opening of the Melbourne Regent last November. Both circuits declared record profits.

The dollar problem was solved amicably even if not altogether painlessly by an original freeze of 30 per cent. of profits followed by a further 20 per cent. cut.

Censorship: Uniform censorship legislation has now been passed in most of the States (South Australia is out).

The Commonwealth censor will now have jurisdiction over all imported films, and all locally-produced films. He will have the power to censor all advertising material.

Exhibitors from every State—with the important exception of N.S.W.—united to form a Federal Exhibitors' Council of independent exhibitors. The Council watches all matters affecting the interests of independent exhibitors, principal among these being the entertainment tax.

The Federal Government has called for tenders for the erection of television experimental stations in all States. It seems to be the proposal at this stage to nationalise television by giving control of it to the Government's broadcasting network—The Australian Broadcasting Commission.

The Gaumont-Kalee equipment was imported by National Theatre Supply Co., a subsidiary of Greater Union Theatres, which is itself half-owned by Rank. The equipment is expensive and not many have so far been installed, but with the powerful GU circuit behind it the Gaumont-Kalee will eventually appear in many selected showcases. British equipment importers made application for a tariff reduction but this move was strenuously opposed by Australian manufacturers and decision had not been reached at the end of the year.

Kinemas: 1,674, situated New South Wales 585, Victoria 361, Queensland 333, South Australia 168, Western Australia 164, Tasmania 63. There are 54 Training (Mobile) Kinemas and approximately 42 16-mm. mobile shows.

Principal Circuits: Hoyts Theatres (156 Kinemas) in which 20th Century Fox's National Theatres Corporation hás a controlling interest, is particularly strong (40) in Melbourne suburbs.

Greater Union Theatres Pty., Ltd. (120) in which J. Arthur Rank has a 50 per cent. interest recently acquired 23 kinemas off Clifford circuit in South Australia.

Waterman Bros. and Associate Companies 25 kinemas mostly in South Australia.

M.G.M. Theatres, 8 theatres in key situations.

Snider & Dean Theatres Pty., 25 kinemas in New South Wales.

Far Northern Theatres has 14 kinemas in Queensland.

Goldfields Pictures Ltd., 22 kinemas in Western Australia.

Robert McLeish Theatres, 7 kinemas in Victoria.

Admission prices: 1s. 3d. (including 3d. tax) to 6s. 3d. (including 1s. 7d. tax). Entertainment tax is collected by Commonwealth Government and for the year ended June 3o, 1948, was £5,198,336 of which it is estimated kinemas accounted for two-thirds.

Customs and other duties: Preference is shown in tariffs to British film imports; but there is a duty of 8d. per foot on all U.S. imports. Duties on studio equipment from Great Britain are lighter than those from non-Empire lands. Camera, amplifier, microphone and mixer are subject only to 10 per cent. primage duty if imported from Britain. Sound gear from foreign countries meets a 20 per cent. duty, 10 primage plus 25 per cent. sales tax (sales tax applies also to British imports).

Quota Restrictions: Law fixes the distributors' quota of Australian films at 3 per cent. The minimum proportion of Australian quota films which an exhibitor shall screen is 2½ per cent. Exhibitor' minimum quota of British films is 15 per cent.

Production: No Australian-made film was released in 1948. It has been a disappointing year for local production. Much was anticipated in 1946 when three films were released, but the boom failed to materialise, Local production will inevitably suffer from the operation of the non-discrimination clause in Anglo-U.S. loan agreement.

The Production of Documentaries is confined to the National Film Board. During the year ended June 30, 1947, the Board completed 32 documentary and educational films, at a cost of £60,000. One of these, "School in the Mail-Box" was screened for UNESCO. Seven of them are in 16-mm. colour. National Film Board also distributes selected foreign subjects and collaborates with the States in the distribution of these and its own films.—Frank O'Connell.

AUSTRIA

THE Ministerium für Wiederaufbau und Wirtschaftsplanung (Ministry for Reconstruction and Economic Planning), (Ministerialrat, Dr. Steyskal) Abteilung 23a, of Zaunergasse 3, Vienna in is the Austrian Government department which deals with the film industry.

The Bundesministerium für Unterricht (State Ministry of Education), (Ministerialrat, Prof. Dr. Haustein) of Minoritenplatz 5, Vienna 1, is interest d in films of educational value.

The Warenverkehrsbüro (Goods Traffic Office) of 20, Löwelstrasse, Vienna I, is the office which handles the import and export of films and equipment. It works in conjunction with the Ministries and with the National Bank in matters of currency payments, barter and exchange.

Number of kinemas: 897. There are 193 in Vienna.

The figures for the various zones occupied by the four Allies (excluding Vienna) are: Russian, 307; American, 172; British, 165; French, 42.

Mobile kinemas: There are about 26 in the American, French and British occupied zones, some using 35 mm. and others 16 mm. It is known that the Russians are also using such mobiles in their zone for combined entertainment and propaganda purposes.

There are no circuits as understood in Great Britain. An association called "KIBA" (Kinobetriebs Aktien Gesellschaft) controls 45 kinemas most of which are in Vienna. In general, kinemas in Austria are in private hands, or leased by private individuals.

There are only one or two kinemas with over 1,000 seats. The majority have 500 seats and below.

Admission prices: A maximum of Schillings 5 (2s. 6d.) is charged for admission to first run and larger houses; and a minimum of Groschen 80 (about 5d.) for smaller theatres in outlying districts. Groschen 50 (3d.) is added to price of each ticket if a variety act appears. Entertainment and other taxes are included in the maximum and minimum prices quoted.

In the provinces prices range from a maximum of Schillings 4.50 (2s. 3d.) down to Groschen 80 (about 5d.).

Entrance prices and entertainment tax are based on classification of kinemas into categories according to seating capacity; general standard of furnishing and equipment; or the district and type of population living in the neighbourhood.

Entertainment taxes: Tax absorbs between 10 per cent. to 25 per cent. of the gross takings, and is graded according to the size and category of the kinema in the same way as admission prices.

In the provinces small local taxes are sometimes imposed, and every kinema entrance ticket also includes a charge of 5 Groschen (fraction of a farthing) for the Association of Authors, Composers and Musicians, as a royalty.

Imported films: American, 43; British, 24; Russian, 34; French, 29; German, 13; Swiss, 8; Czech, 1; Sweden, 1; Denmark, 1; Hungary, 1.

Austria produced 22 features during 1948 and six documentary or Kulturfilme.

The Russians import through their own

"Sowexportfilm" agency. The exact total of Russian or Russian sponsored films imported is not known, but it is considered they follow closely on the number of American films

Censorship: In the American, British and French zones the Austrian authorities now have the right to censor films. Under Austrian law kinemas are the concern of each province, which has its own kinema regulations. Under these regulations films for showing to youth must have a special permit (Zulassung) issued by the competent local office. For Vienna and most of the provinces the age limit is 16. In the provinces of Salzburg, Styria and Tyrol this age limit is 17 years; in Carinthia and Voralberg 18 years.

Customs and other duties: The tariff for exposed and unexposed film is Austrian Schillings 120 (£3) per 100 kilos nett (125 lb.) including tin containers, plus 2 per cent. of the value. The value is calculated from the invoice price, plus freight cost.

Cost of freight by air is at present about Austrian Schillings 7.20 per kilo (or 3s. 4d. per 24 lb.). Freight overland is much slower and less reliable, and the cost works out at much the Import permits are granted for films to enter the country for 14 days if for viewing by a prospective buyer or distributor. The permits are issued by the Austrian Ministry of Finance, 5, Johannesgasse, Vienna 1, in conjunction with the Foreign Exchange Department of the Austrian National Bank, 4 Rockhgasse, Vienna 1, and the Warenverkehrsbüro (Goods Traffic Office) of 20, Löwelstrasse, Vienna 1. A deposit of 10 per cent. of the value of the film is necessary.

For import of negatives, or of films for synchronisation, the titles of the films, and the name and address of the Austrian concern who will handle the negatives or films, must be given to the three Austrian Departments mentioned.

The Austrian Ministry of Finance, in conjunction with the Customs authorities, issue permits for a period of six months. A security, based on 10 per cent. of the value of the negatives or films must be deposited with the Austrian National Bank. In certain cases the period of six months may be extended.

Permits must be obtained before films arrive in the country. These can either be arranged by the importing Austrian concern, or by the transport agents who handle the negatives or films. The firm Frey and Co., International Transport Agents, of 43, Lindengasse, Vienna 7, specialises in international film transport.

Quota: There are at present no quota or other restrictions on foreign imported films.

Exchange regulations: Before importing Exchange regulations: Before importing foreign films into Austria the contract made between the foreign firm and the Austrian buyer, or distributor, must be submitted to the Austrian National Bank for the purpose of examination and agreement under paragraph 14 of the Foreign Currency Law No. 162 / of 1946.

The contract must furthermore be approved by the Austrian Ministry of Commerce and Reconstruction as well as the Society of Film Producers.

Approval by the Austrian National Bank does not constitute an import licence. The does not constitute an import incence. I agreement of the Austrian Ministry of Finance (5, Johannesgasse, Vienna 1) and the Warenverscherbsbiro (Goods Traffic Office) of 20, Löwelstrasse, Vienna 1, has first to be obtained.

Receipts from showing of films can only remain in Austrian currency at present. The remain in Austrian currency at present. The Austrian Schilling is officially fixed at 40 to the pound sterling. The currency is legal throughout Austria, including the Russian occupied zone.

Payments in foreign currency are strictly controlled by the Austrian Ministry of Finance. Legislation: To stabilise the Austrian film industry and to eliminate a number of small concerns with no capital facilities a law is now being drafted whereby it will be necessary to prove a certain number of years of actual experience in the production and distribution of films before a licence is granted.

Studios: The largest "Wien Film am Rosenhügel" are in the Russian sector of Vienna, and under Russian control. but can be rented. There are three stages: Hall (1), 40 by 20 metres, (2) 35 by 18 metres, (3) 12 by 14 metres.
The "Neue Wien Film" studios in the Sievering district of Vienna, in the American sector has two stages: Hall (1) 24 by 30 metres, (2) 16 by 24 metres.

"Neue Wien Film" also has a small studio —one stage II by I8 metres—at Schönbrunn in the British occupied Sector of Vienna, and is converting a former brewery at 32, Cobenzigasse, Vienna 19, into a studio. It will have two stages.

The Salzburg Festival House at Salzburg is used as a film studio for 10 months of the year when not in use for the annual Festival. managed by the Österreichische Film Gessell-schaft m.b.H. of 32, Schwarzstrasse, Salzburg. A former Passion Play theatre at Thiersee, in the Tirol, French zone, is now used as a film studio, and at Dreher Park in the 13th District of Vienna (British sector) a small theatre has been converted. This has three small stages; a laboratory and a 4,000 square metre outside lot.

Graz, the capital of Styria, has a studio in a former aeroplane hangar.

Twenty feature films were produced in 1947, compared with two in 1946. A total of approximately 44 feature films and 12 documentary films have been produced since the end of the Documentary producers do not receive the support of any Government department or large concerns, and their existence is at present precarious one through lack of capital.

Repeated attempts on the part of documentary film producers to obtain Government backing have been unsuccessful, the Government maintaining that it has no funds available.

Attempts are being made, however, to form a central organisation for production of documentary films.

BULGARIA

THE state film monopoly since early 1948, is operated by Bulgarska Kinematografia, which is under the direction of the Committee for Science, Art and Culture. It controls all film Science, Art and Culture. production as well as importation, export and distribution of films and equipment.

There are about 300 kinemas, but the current Two-Year Plan provides for the building of an Two-thirds of the 300 theatres additional 200. are owned by cultural organisations. Legislation (April 5, 1947) imposed the following taxes on gross receipts of these kinemas: the 30 theatres in Sofia, 34 per cent; those in the nine principal provincial towns, 28 per cent.; Theatres the remaining kinemas 10 per cent. owned by individual exhibitors pay the same taxes except in Sofia, where they pay an additional 13.2 per cent. municipal tax on their net receipts and various other taxes.

Films made in Bulgaria with Bulgarian casts are exempt from taxation. Production is still in its infancy.

Bulgarian and the Czech Film Monopolies signed an agreement in 1947 whereby between 30 and 40 Czech films will be distributed in Bulgaria annually .- H . H. Wollenberg.

CANADA

GREAT were the problems which beset the Canadian film industry throughout the whole of 1948.

The full effect of the Dominion Government's austerity regulations, enacted late in 1947, was felt during the year. Restrictions on imports of steel, equipment and a wide range of supplies held back the completion of many new theatres and the modernising of older

Despite construction difficulties, Odeon theatres were opened in almost a score of cities across the Dominion during the year to give the J. Arthur Rank Organisation an effective place in the theatre realm.

The year started with 1,693 theatres all told, a net increase of 216 buildings over the same date of the previous year. While 233 large and small theatres had come into operation, 27 had been closed and 10 others had been reopened. Famous Players Canadian Corp. opened a fair quota of new houses but the affiliated circuits of this chain were responsible for the opening or acquiring of numerous theatres. Government figures show that 893 of the 1,693 operating theatres were owned independently but they garnered only 18 per cent. of the aggregate receipts.

In April, 1948, the Dominion Government abandoned its 20 per cent. war excise tax on theatre grosses but there was little gain for the exhibitors and paying public because the Ontario Provincial Government immediately instituted a 20 per cent. hospital tax on theatre admissions and several other Provinces made an upward adjustment of their own levies on tickets.

Canadian exhibitors admitted a gradual decline in patronage, but receipts were maintained at high level because of increased prices.

Television has not yet been introduced in Canada because of the tardy policy of the Government's controlling agency, the Canadian Broadcasting Corp., to which Famous Players Canadian Corp., applied for a telecasting licence in order to combine "video" with the stage and screen.

The matter was probably settled permanently, however, when the application was denied and the C.B.C. countered with the offer of television programmes to private enterprises on a sales basis. Such programmes would not be available for at least two years, it was declared. television aims and doubts have been shelved for some time.

British pictures gained ground with the Canadian public, as they had done in the two previous years. The Dominion Government made the threat of restricting the import of Hollywood pictures in order to conserve foreign exchange. Officials of the American film exchange. industry hurried to Ottawa for conferences on the subject and the outcome was the establishment of what was called the "Canadian Coperative Project." The American producers guaranteed to stimulate interest in the Dominion by screen and other publicity. There was also some talk of producing some features on Canadian soil but this move had not actually materialised before the end of 1948 .-- WILLIAM GLADISH.

FRANCE

THE central authority dealing with all film matters is the Centre National de la Cinematographie Francaise, comprising five Cinematographie Francaise, comprising five divisions: 1. Production and Technical Services; 2. Foreign Service; 3. Distribution and Exploitation; 4. General Administration; 5. Social problems.

The Director-General of this organisation, which has all the characteristics of a Ministry is M. Michel Fourré-Cormeray, who is responsible directly to the "Presidence du Conseil." (The Prime Minister's Office.)

The Director-General has the right to sit (or to be represented) on the Censorship Committee, which is presided over by a high-ranking civil servant and includes delegates from seven of the National Ministries and seven representatives of various branches of the film industry, exhibitors and critics. In his statement of policy M. Fourré-Cormeray has announced the adoption of the principle that the censorship commission can impose a ban only if it is voted unanimously by secret ballot and confirmed by a ballot taking place a fortnight later.

No essential changes occurred during the past year in the set-up of the various unions and syndicates representing respectively film-technicians, producers, exhibitors and renters.

The "Taxe de Luxe" was superseded by a "Taxe sur les Spectacles" of from 2 to 26 per cent. of the weekly takings according to the amount and the grading of the locality concerned (the lowest limit of the weekly takings being 15.000 frs., and the highest—120.000 frs.).
"Taxes sur chiffre d'affaires" (Taxes on the turnover): 3.5 per cent. on the negative production (paid by the studio proprietor, set-building contractor, etc.); no per cent. on the value of the positive copies (paid by the producer); 3.5 per cent. on the amount of bookings (paid by the producer); 3.5 per cent. on the eventual price of exhibition rights (paid by the producer); 3.5 per cent. on the renting price (paid by the renter); 3.5 per cent. "Entertainment Tax" (paid by the exhibitor).

Newsreels are exempt from taxes on production, bookings or outright sales.

Stamp Duty: 0.50 frs. on sums up to 50 frs. and by progressing scale up to 10 frs. on sums between 10.000 and 50.000 frs.

A new tax has been introduced by the Act of September 23, 1948, on "Temporary Help to the Cinema." A supplement of 5 frs. is charged on every ticket costing 35 to 99 frs., and a supplement of 10 frs. on all tickets exceeding 100 frs. Apart from this the Law provides the payment of a "Taxe de Sortie de Films," which amounts to 400 frs. per metre of film for every Frenchspeaking picture (original French version or dubbed), 25 frs. per every metre of a foreign language film in its original version, and 50 frs. per metre of short films (under 1.300 m.) French or foreign.

From these sources an "Assistance Fund" of 1.500 million frs. is to be created, into which the Treasury is authorised to pay immediately as a loan the sum of 400 million frs. This fund is to be used or financing new productions (up to 50 per cent. of the estimated cost) and for loans to exhibitors, whose kinemas need rebuilding or modernising as a result of the war.

Admission Prices: Despite a considerable rise in the cost of living and the devaluation of the franc, the admission prices have been on the level fixed by the decree of November, 1947. They range from 20 frs. (approx. 5d.) to 150 frs.

(approx. 3 shillings). Quota: There are—in principle—no restrictions on import of foreign films, apart from the obligation to obtain an import licence and a visa of Censorship. In accordance, however, with the new French-American agreement of September 16, 1948, the number of foreign feature films shown in France with a French language sound-track (35 m.m. over 3,900 ft.) is limited to 186 p.a., of which 121 are American.

On this agreement is also based the Quota Regulation, according to which five weeks (instead of formerly four) in every 13 must be devoted to home-produced films (Decree of November 3, 1948). An additional clause in the agreement provides that dubbed foreign films can be shown simultaneously only in five kinemas of the Department Seine and in ro kinemas of the other Departments.

Customs Duty: This amounts to 20 per cent. ad valor em on raw stock. The rates per metre for processed films are as follows: Negatives (35 mm.), black and white, newsreels, 3 frs., others 20 frs; Negatives (35 mm.), in colour, newsreels, 5 frs., others 25 frs.; Positives (35 mm.), black and white, newsreels, 1 fr., others 4 frs.; Positives (35 mm), in colour, newsreels, 2 frs., others 5 frs.

Sound-track only-the same rates as for black and white positives.

Currency: Transfer of money from France to other countries is only permitted with the authorisation of the "Office des Changes." By virtue of the Franco-American agreement, U.S. film companies are authorised to take out of France a yearly sum not exceeding 3,625,000 dollars for four consecutive years. There are also provisions now enabling foreign film companies to use their frozen assets for producing films in France.

At the British Embassy in Paris film matters are dealt with by the Public Relation Officer (P. F. D. Tennant) in whose department Miss T. Williamson is in charge of the Film Section.

The French film interests are represented in London by the Commercial Counsellor to the French Embassy (Alexandre Apostol is in charge of the Film, Section) at 22, Hans Place, London, S.W.r. (Telephone: KENsington 3481.)

Production: Costs are about 15 times higher than in 1939. Whilst the State retains in taxes, etc., 34 per cent. of the takings, the producer's share amounts approximately to 14 per cent. As a rule the takings are divided as follows: Taxes, 34 per cent.; Exhibitors, 39 per cent.; Renters, 6 per cent.; Author's rights, etc., 7 per cent.; Production, 14 per cent.

Some improvement in this state of affairs is expected through the "Act on Temporary Aid for the Cinema." Within the French reconstruction plan, called "Plan Monnet," the film industry has been given one of the topranking places. The Commission de Modernisation du Cinéma has been formed to step up both the construction of new studios and the output of raw film with the object of producing 150 films per year in 1950.

As for the reconstruction of war-damaged kinemas and the construction of new picture-houses, the "Centre National de la Cinématographie" is responsible for the examination of requirements. The powers of this central authority are very extensive. As a result 393 war-damaged 35 mm. kinemas and 59 16 mm. kinemas have so far been repaired or rebuilt.

The French film-industry had 15 studios with 44 stages operating and is capable of producing on the average 80 feature films per year. The studio-space is being increased by the construction of three additional stages at the Gaumont Studios in Marseilles.

The official estimate of feature films produced in France during the year, 1948, is given as 95 (as compared with 91 in 1946 and 113 in 1938).

5,676 (35 mm.), belonging to tors. Total seating capacity. Kinemas: 5,499 exhibitors. 2,500,000. Average seating capacity: 500 Approximate number of admissions per annum: 400,000,000.

3,556. In 1947, a total of 323 feature films were shown in Paris. These included: 88 French, 175 American, 22 British, 16 Italian, 6 Swedish, 4 Belgian, 4 Russian, 2 Danish, 2 Mexican, 1 Ausrian, I Argentine, I Swiss, I Czechoslovak. The figures for the first 6 months of 1948 were: Total, 240; 48 French, 132 American, 60 other

GERMANY

CONTROL of the industry in each of the four zones is in the hands of the occupying power. In the British and U.S. zones these powers are vested in the Film Section, I.S.C. Branch with the sponsorship of legislation, censorship, and the over-all activities of the industry.

Basic idea is to establish an independent, democratic and decentralised industry excluding all monopolies whether German or foreign, and to separate the functions of production, distribution and exhibition, and to permit no combination of even two of these functions within one and the same firm.

Number of kinemas is 3,200, about threequarters of the pre-war total. They are situated as follows: Russian zone 1,000; British 1,050; U.S. 750; France 400. There are no circuits

Admission Prices range from 70Pf (rs.) to M.4 (7s.), which include a heavy entertainmentax levied municipally.

Censorship of German product is chiefly concerned with the elimination of Nazi ideology; as most items were escapist there was sufficient feature product to keep kinemas open after the surrender.

Even in 1948 some of the pre-surrender features were still running, as the still relatively meagre output of post-war German productions was insufficient, and many of the foreign imports failed to please.

Eagle-Lion and the Motion Picture Export distribution in the respective zones. Exchanges have been established by the former at Hamburg, Berlin and Düsseldorf. But German individuals are now entitled to apply for a licence to rent and distribute pictures, provided they refrain from activity in production or in the exhibiting field.

Berlin studio space available for Westernsponsored productions is restricted to what remains of the former UFA studios at Tempelhof and Ondia studio in Kaiserallee, Berlin West (a former school building).

Principal Western production centre is still Munich, where the Geiselgasteig studios are now offering facilities for up to 12 features a year. With two new stages in preparation it is hoped to arrange for three features to go on the floor simultaneously. But the total Munich capacity can hardly ever exceed 15 a year.

The most modern German studio is now completed at Göttingen (British zone) with capacity of up to eight features a year, to be raised to 12 in 1949.

Near Hamburg new studio space has been provided at Bendesdorph. Capacity, four features a year. Another new Hamburg studio is a converted dance hall at Ohlstedt (capacity 4-5 a year), and at Rahlstedt another studio is being completed.

The Currency Reform (1948) gave the new D. Mark the value of M 13½ for £1. It changed the financial problems of the industry, necessitating amortisation in nearly one half of the country. In the West practically all producers are dependent on credit for raw stock as well as studio rent. Average, net takings of a feature in the British and U.S. zones are DM 800,000 (just over £60,000). The French zone might net up to an additional 300,000. This means that it would be most risky for a German producer to spend more than DM 600,000 (£45,000) on a feature.

The former UFA and AFA studios at Babelsburg and the JUFA studios at Johannistal are at the disposal of DEFA in the Russian zone.

There are laboratories at Berlin (AFIFA), at Vlothow (British zone), and at Geiselgasteig, near Munich.

AGFA raw stock is produced at Wolfen in the Russian zone, and the emulsion by former AGFA subsidiaries near Frankfürt and Munich (U.S. zone).

Production of documentaries and educationals is proceeding in all zones on a small scale, though larger schemes are being entertained for the future. One newsreel is produced at Munich (under joint Anglo-American supervision), and another in Berlin for DEFA (Russian zone).—H. FRAENKEL

GREECE

THE Government is responsible for censorship and import regulations and educational Kinemas: 179 Winter kinemas which open for seven months a year and 223 Summer kinemas open for five months.

Annual Admissions: 100,000,000.

Entertainment tax is between 44-46 per cent.

There are seven circuits, two of which own 6 out of the II kinemas in Athens and have agreements with U.S.A. producers.

There are four production units, each has laboratory facilities.

ORGANISATIONS :-

Syndicate of Film Importers and Distributors. The Association of Small Cinema Proprietors

The Cinematograph Employees' Union.

HUNGARY

THE Hungarian film industry was nationalised in 1948, and is controlled by three Government enterprises: Hungarian Film Trade N.E. (Magyar Filmforgalmi N.V.); Hungarian Film-Production N.E. (Magyar Filmgyartó N.V.); and Cinematographic N.E. (Mozgóképüzemi N.V.). Their activities are co-ordinated and directed by the National Film-Office.

Two studios, two laboratories, a distributing organisation, about 400 35 mm. and 400 substandard theatres thus come within the government monopoly.

Export-import business is handled by Hungarian Filmtrade N.E. As the result of nationalisation Hungary's imports, formerly between 180-200 films per year, have been reduced to 130-140 pictures.
Distribution and exhibition are handled mainly by the Cinematographic N.E., but 105 kinemas still remain in private hands.

Technical development and maintenance of equipment is controlled by the Radio and Film Technical N.E. which is allied to the three national organisations.

Eight features were produced under state control in 1948.—Ander Lajta.

INDIA

THROUGH the security measures taken by the Central and the Provincial Governments, the industry was able to regain a considerable portion of the ground lost in 1947.

In the Indian Union all kinemas continued to operate normally. There was also an unprecedented rise in film production. In the nine months ending September, 1948, some 260 films had already been passed by the Censors. However, not all of these pictures were released. India's kinemas, devoted to showing Indian films, can accommodate about 160 pictures per year, so that, with a backlog from previous years, nearly 300 pictures are awaiting release.

To make matters worse, there is a complete ban on the construction of new kinemas. Then again, raw film imports continued to be on the same restricted basis as in 1947.

American and British films have seen somewhat lean times, for with the departure of most foreigners and the inability of the masses to follow English dialogue, the reception of these films, whether new or old, was not as marked as in the period of the war, Conditions in Pakistan were still far from steady. Only in Karachi and Lahore were kinemas doing well. Other towns suffer from the poor economic condition of the people. Pakistan, moreover, imposed a duty of half an anna for every foot of film on every print admitted.

Apalled by the undesirable type of films shown to children the Central Government has introduced a Bill to amend the Cinematograph Act so as to authorise the Censor Boards to give A and U certificates, as in the U.K.

The Government is also producing short cultural films. These films will have to be compulsorily shown by all kinemas.

In the visual education field substantial progress has been made. The Government of Bombay is spending between 2 and 3 lakhs a year on projectors for schools.

G.-B. Instructional has set up a laboratory to enable prints of its films to be dubbed into Indian languages.—RAM L. GOGTAY.

ISRAEL

THE film industry within the newly created Jewish State of Israel is under the direct control of the Ministry of the Interior.

Film censorship is in the hands of a board comprising representatives of the Government and one each from the Writers' Association, Office for Religious Affairs, W.I.Z.O. (Women's Israeli Zionist Organisation), Educational Department, Police, Social Welfare of Tel Aviv and the Youth Organisation. Censorship fees are: new features, I&15; shorts I&3.75; newsreels Ifo.25.

Kinemas. There are 75 static kinemas, 15 of which are regarded as first-run houses. Tel Aviv has eight; Haifa and Jerusalem four each. All are independently owned.

ITALY

THE Industry is controlled by the Centra Cinematographic Office, at the presidency of the Council of Cabinet Ministers. There are four sections: Production, in charge of Doctor Annibale Scicluna Sorge, vice-president of the Central Office; General Affairs (Dr. Girolamo della Valle); Management and Revision (Dr. Gianni de Tommasi); and Foreign Trade (Dr. Benito Orta).

There are approximately 6,200 kinemas showing standard films and some 500 for substandard films. Total seating capacity is approximately 3,000,000.

Chief circuits are E.N.I.C. (60) and E.C.I (80). Admissions during 1947 amounted to over 25,000 million lire, of which about 16 per cent. represented takings on Italian films. Admission taxes: Up to 60 lire, 35 per cent.; above 60 lire, 50 per cent.

The "Associazione Nazionale Industrie Cinematografiche" (A.N.I.C.A.) combines the interests of both producers and distributors. Practically all kinema owners in Italy belong to the "Associazione Generale Italiana dello Spettacolo" (A.G.I.S., 91 Via Sistina, Rome). There are a number of associations covering the substandard film industry. They are grouped into "Federazione Nazionale del Passo Ridotto" 1810 "Federazione Nazionae del l'asso Redete (34, Via Antonio Bosio, Rome). Production: Cost of a superfilm in Italy amounts to 200-300 million lire; "A" films 100-150 million lire; "B" films, 50-80 million Feature production in 1947 totalled 60 subjects and four feature length cartoons. The programme for 1948-49 comprises 60 feature films, some 300 documentaries. Remittance of profits made on the showing of foreign films in Italy is allowed only in the case of countries having a clearing agreement with Italy, and the distributors of other countries have to re-invest their profits in the production of Italian films. There are 14 studios with some 50 floors, the capacity of which is in the neighbourhood of 120 features. Studios in operation are: Rome: Cinecitta (14 floors); Scalera Film (6); Rome: Cinecitta (14 Hoors); Scarea rami (v); Farnesina (4); Centro Sperimentale di Cinematografia (Experimental Cinematographic Centre) (2); Safir (2); Capitani (1); Catalucci (1); Pax Film (2). Leghorn: Tirrenia (4). Turin: Fert (3). Venice: Scalera Film (3). Turin: Fert (3). Ve Palermo: O.F.S. (3).

Exports: In 1947, 936 films were exported. Imports: During 1947 about 400 foreign films were shown in Italy, amongst which the United States were represented by 290 films, Great Britain by 40, and France by 30.

American producers lease their films to Italian kinemas on share-the-gross-takings Italian kinemas on share-the-gross-takings basis. Under this arrangement usually about 50 to 60 per cent. goes to the producers. Other companies often sell their films outright and in the arries per film varies from 1 to 60 such cases the price per film varies from 1 to 60 million lire.

Legislation: Every Italian film over 2,000 metres long shown before December 31, 1949 will receive a subsidy equivalent to 10 per cent of gross takings this film secures during four. months of showing. Such films will receive additional 6 per cent. grant if the Technical Committee finds that they possess exceptional cultural and artistic value.

Documentaries from 250 to 2,000 metres receive 3 per cent. subsidy. Italian newsreels receive a subsidy equal to 2 per cent. of the gross takings during the first six months of their showing.

All kinemas in the country must devote 20 days in each quarter of the year to showing Italian films of over 2,000 metres.

All imported films must be accompanied by a certificate of origin. Custom duty amounts to 80 lire for every hundred metres and a 10 per cent. licence tax is charged on the invoice. To the sum resulting from the addition of taxes and invoice is applied a 4 per cent. sales tax .-G. COPPA ZUCCARI.

LUXEMBOURG

ALMOST all product is supplied through Belgian companies. Kinemas: 29.

There is no production industry apart from 16mm films on a small scale for the Educational Film Office.

MEXICO

THE Direccion General de Supervision Cinematografica, a department of the Ministry of the Interior, is the Government authority responsible for all matters concerning the film industry in Mexico.

Kinemas: 1,798. The most important kinema circuit is the Circuito Operadora de Teatros, S.A., with 30 houses. Others are Circuito del Norte (38), Primer Circuito (11) and Fuera de Circuito (3). A large 70-house circuit is owned by William O. Jenkins, a former U.S. consul.

Admission prices: First-run theatres in Mexico City charge about 4 pesos (approx. 5s.). Admission prices for second-run theatres range from 0.80 to 1.50 pesos (approx. 10d. and 2s. respectively). Kinemas in towns outside the Federal District charge from 0.20 to 3 pesos

Federal District charge from 0.20 to 3 pesos (approx. 3d. to 3s. 6d.).

Percentages of films exhibited in Mexico are as follows: U.S. 70 per cent.; Mexico 22 per cent.; Argentina 5 per cent.; French, British and other films 3 per cent.

Censorship: This is controlled by the Secretaria de Gobernacion, Dept. de Supervision Cinematographico, Mexico City to whom films must be submitted before exhibition anywhere in the country. There are four classifications: "A"—suitable for adults, adolescents and children; "B"—suitable for adults and adolescents;—"C"—suitable for adults only; "D"—suitable for exhibition under special circumstances only. The latter under special circumstances only. The latter must have special authorisation for each showing.

Import duty on films with Spanish dialogue is fixed at 8 pesos per kilogram (approx. 10s.), whereas that on films with English dialogue is fixed at 20 pesos per kilogram, (approx. £1 5s.). Present quota legislation requires each kinema to reserve one third of its annual screen time for Mexican films.

The only new legislation in the film industry announced during 1947 was a regulation of the Actors' Section of the Sindicato de la Produccion that no foreign actors will be allowed to work in Mexico unless they are under contract.

Production: Mexico has 9 film studios, which provide facilities for 63 producers, all members of the Producers' Association; 15 of whom can be considered actually active. Average annual production is approx. 60 features and 75 short subjects. The Credito Cinematografico Mexicano (Mexican Film Bank) was formed with Government backing and with a capitalisation of about 15 million pounds sterling to strengthen Mexican production. It set a ceiling on produc-tion costs with a view to keeping down the rapidly rising expenditure. Guidance and supervision of production is entrusted to the National Film Commission.—H. H. WOLLENBERG.

PORTUGAL

THE main Government Department dealing with films is the Secretariado Nacional de Informacao, Cultura Popular e Turismo in Lisbon. There is a sub-division of Espectaculos and again a section for the kinema. This Department awards three prizes annually for the best Portuguese films. It also supervises the application of the quota law of December 27, 1946, by which one week in six has to be reserved for the showing of home-produced films. This proportion has remained the same for 1948.

A special tax is payable by theatres on all foreign films. Customs and other duties represent about 25 per cent. of the revenues of the industry—exhibitors' admission taxes, etc., amount to about 30 per cent.

SPAIN

MOST important bodies concerned with films are the Subcomision Reguladora de la Cinematografia and the Sindicato Nacional del Espectaculo. Both are represented in the Junta Superior de Ordenacion Cinematografica (Superior Council for the Control of the Kinema), the president of which is the Director-General of the Kinema and Theatre. The Council is responsible for film censorship and for guidance to all branches of the industry.

There are approximately 3,200 kinemas, Of these, however, only 810 are open daily giving two performances a day. The rest operate only two or three days per week. Seating capacity slightly more than 1,500,000. Weekly attendance estimated at approx. 5 million.

Admission prices: Madrid, 12 pesetas for first-run houses, 6 pesetas for second-run houses, 3 pesetas at suburban houses. In major provincial towns: first-run houses 7 pesetas, second-run houses 4 pesetas, all other houses 2 pesetas. In smaller places, admissions vary from r to 2 pesetas. It is estimated that approx. 700 million pesetas p.a. are taken in at the box offices, 200 million of which is remitted to the State.

Gross receipts from films in their first-run are shared on a fifty-fifty basis by distributors and exhibitors; 30 per cent., however, is deducted for entertainment tax and another 5 per cent, for "Proteccion de Menores" (Protection of Minors) tax.

Kinemas are liable to show a Spanish film one week out of six unless the Sindicato of the Spanish film industry cannot provide the Theatre with a Spanish production.

Several countries are accorded preference. At present two British or European films may be imported on one import licence as against one U.S. film. A special exchange agreement was concluded with Argentina in September, 1948.

Import licences are granted in proportion to the number of Spanish films produced or distributed by a company. Changes in the present system are under consideration. At present, the licences necessary to import feature films are granted to Spanish producers only, and the number granted is dependent on the classification of their Spanish films. classification of their Spanish films. Two licences are granted for each Spanish film classified as first category; one licence for second category films. The third category includes all films not deserving of any Government protection. The classifications are effected by a specially appointed committee while the granting of import licences is handled by the Ministry of Industry and Commerce. Home production is also encouraged by Government grants.

There are roughly 90 production companies apart from a number of documentary, cartoon and other shorts producers.

Of the 13 Studios the most important are studios C.E.A., Ciudad Lineal, Madrid Of the 13 Studios the most lineal, Madrid; Estudios C.E.A., Ciudad Lineal, Madrid; Sevilla Film Studios, Chamartin de la Rosa, Madrid; Orphea, Parque de Montjuich, Barcelona. In addition, there are six dubbing studios, and 13 laboratories. Number of features produced in 1947 was about 50 at an estimated cost of 24 million pesetas; and a like number of shorts of all kinds.

The average cost of a feature-length production is 2.5 million pesetas although some super productions such as "Don Quixote de la Mancha" cost up to five million pesetas.—

SWITZERLAND

THE Federal decree of July 7, 1939, granting distributors the right to import feature films to the same extent as were imported during the to the same extent as were imported during the four-year period from January 1, 1935, to December 31, 1938, is the only Federal legislation concerning the film. The establishment of new distributing firms is thus practically impossible, as they would not be able to obtain a share in the quota. The Schweizer Filmkammer, Berne (Swiss Film Chamber), calls for a gradual decrease of imports through the application of the import regulation. the import regulations.

Switzerland has 360 kinemas, according to the latest figures. These include 227 in the German, 108 in the French, and 25 in the Italian-speaking areas of the Federation.

Film censorship and other legislation is the prerogative of e^ch of the 25 Cantons which form the Swiss Federation; their rulings differ widely.

The total of theatres in the German- and Italian-speaking areas are organised within the Schweizer Lichtspiel Theater Verband, Bahnhofstrasse 89, Zürich; the theatres in the French-speaking area in the Association Cinematographique Suisse Romande, with headquarters at 6, rue du Lion d'Or, Lausanne. The renters' organisation is Film-Verleiher Verband in der Schweiz, Marktgasse, 37, Berne. Only members of these organisations are permitted to distribute or exhibit films. There is also a special ruling by which a sub-standard film can only be hired from a renter who owns the 35-mm. rights of the film.

There is also a producers' association, Verband Schweizerischer Film-Produzenten, Rennweg 59, Zürich; its members are essentially concerned with the production of shorts. The two major studios are at Zürich and at Münchenstein (Basle).

VENEZUELA

VENEZUELA has approximately 325 com mercial kinemas. The most important mercial kinemas. The most important kinema circuit is the Circuito Venezolano de Cines with 25 houses. The Carcel y Muro circuit has 4 first-run houses in the capital.

Admission prices: First-run theatres in racas, the capital, charge from 0.50 to 3.25 bolivars (approx. 3s. 10d.); Second-run and other theatres in Caracas, 0.25 to 1.25 bolivars. In other big cities prices range from 0.25 to 2.50 bolivars.

Censorship: A new Council was formed during the year to censor all films on moral and political grounds.

Customs duties: These vary according to the value of the film and the duty is paid on the gross weight. Film material on which duty has to be paid is classified as follows: prints, prints, photographic propaganda material and posters. So far no restrictions on foreign films have been imposed.

Production: Venezuela Films, a new company, began work in the studios of Atlas Films de Venezuela, the only major studio in the country. During 1947 one feature film was produced by Producciones Gilca, a unit of Venezuela Films. Otherwise production is limited to newsreels and documentaries only. The main producers in this field are Bolivar Films, with studios in Caracas, who began production during 1947.

A programme for the showing of education films in schools was instituted by the Venezuelan Ministry of National Education some years ago, but owing to lack of funds this programme was never fully developed. The Government produced three educational films of good quality, but the studios in which they were made have since shut down and nothing further has been done in respect of educational films,-
